FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR No. 83

LINCOLN, NEB., WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 6, 1960

New Session Looms For 86th Congress

Ike's Message Due Thursday

... '60 HOPEFULS LOAD SENATE

Washington (P)—Congress toed the mark Tuesday, set to take off into an election-year session of politicking, legislating and investigating.

The second session of the 86th Congress will get under way officially at noon Wednesday with preliminary ceremonies in the Senate and House.

The business of the year will start on Thursday when President Eisenhower goes before a joint session and delivers his annual State of the Union message. At that time, Eisenhower will outline what he would like the Democratic-controlled Congress to do in the last year of his two terms.

Eisenhower will send up his annual budget message Jan. 18 and his economic report two days after that.

Since there are no organizing problems to be handled, the flow of legislation likely will begin shortly after these 3 messages are out of the way.

Facing both houses early in the year is a battle over civil rights proposals — a battle that could split the Democratic Party and influence significantly the Democrats' chances of putting their man in the White House.

Partisan Pickup

Politicking, never absent on Capitol Hill, will be even sharper this year. The annual battle of the budget, foreign aid, defense policy, aid to education, help for economically depressed regions — all these and more lie ahead of Congress before its hoped-for adjournment ahead of the national nominating conventions next July.

Vice President Nixon, credited with steering the steel union and management to a settlement, saw his presidential rating rise as a result. But in the months ahead, as he presides over the Senate and plays an active role in shaping Republican legislative policy, Nixon will have to fend off the attacks of Democrats who see him as their chief rival for the White House.

On the Senate floor, facing Nixon, will be no fewer than 4 Democrats considered as possibilities for their party's presidential nomination. All will be jostling for position.

Demos In Command

Democrats will outnumber Republicans in the house 281-153, with 3 vacancies, and in the Senate 65-35.

All 437 House seats and 33 of the Senate's 100 will be on the block in November. Because of their wide edge, it is virtually impossible for the Democrats to lose control of the Senate next fall.

Ohio's DiSalle For Kennedy

Columbus, Ohio (UPI)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Tuesday promised to lead the powerful 64-vote Ohio delegation to the Democratic national convention in support of Sen. John F. Kennedy.

DiSalle wholeheartedly endorsed the Massachusetts Democrat and promised to support him "until Senator Kennedy is either nominated or has withdrawn."

The pledge gave a shot in the arm to the Kennedy campaign for the presidential nomination. The senator has been the Democratic front-runner in the polls but many prominent Democrats have expressed doubt that he could be nominated because he is a Catholic.

DiSalle, who like Kennedy is a Catholic, said his announcement ended the possibility that he "could be accused of making a deal for the nomination for the vice presidency."

"A Kennedy-DiSalle ticket would be a political impossibility for obvious reasons," he said.

Element Of Surprise

DiSalle said he expected his surprise announcement—especially effective because it was a surprise—to start a bandwagon movement which would end with Kennedy's nomination "on an early ballot."

In Washington, Kennedy, who learned of DiSalle's decision by telephoning him Monday night, called it "a most significant and heartening step toward our goal." He said he was "delighted."

The Ohio Democratic organization was the first of any big state to endorse Kennedy. Its delegation to the Los Angeles convention in July will be the fifth largest, after New York, California, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Package Deal

DiSalle will campaign in the May 3 Ohio primary as a favorite son with the understanding that Democrats who are voting for his delegates are voting in favor of Kennedy's nomination.

DiSalle, who like Kennedy is a Catholic, said his announcement ended the possibility that he "could be accused of making a deal for the nomination for the vice presidency."

"A Kennedy-DiSalle ticket would be a political impossibility for obvious reasons," he said.

Washington (UPI)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) refused Tuesday to join Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio on the bandwagon of Sen. Kennedy.

Lausche's office said he "respectfully declined" an invitation to become a candidate for convention delegate pledged to Kennedy.

Ohio's other senator, Democrat Stephen J. Young, joined DiSalle's endorsement.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) who earlier had been considered by some observers as DiSalle's choice, declined comment on the governor's action.

Vocalist, Pianist Win Symphony's Audition

Mrs. Diane Knotek Buttherus, 24, and Miss Lynn Jeanette Williams, 18, were announced winners of the annual Lincoln Symphony Orchestra audition Tuesday night. They will appear with the symphony Feb. 16th.

A soprano, Mrs. Buttherus sang "Une Voce Poco Fa," from Rossini's "Barber of Seville," for the Tuesday auditions. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, she teaches at Millard Lefler Jr. High School and is a voice pupil of Leon Lishner.

Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams of 2418 St. Thomas Dr., is a piano student of Beth Miller Harrod. She performed Ravel's "Concerto in G Major."

Miss Williams is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Nebraska.

Judges for the auditions were Prof. Andrew B. White, head of the music department at Drake University in Des Moines; Mrs. Rosemary Madison, chairman of the music department at Duquesne College in Omaha; and Joseph Levine, music director and conductor of the Omaha Symphony Orchestra.

25 Charges Face Bankers At Bartlett

Bartlett (P)—The State filed a total of 25 charges Tuesday here in connection with the closing of the Bartlett State Bank last May after the discovery of irregularities.

The charges were filed by Deputy Nebraska Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer and Deputy Wheeler County Attorney Harold Connors in county court against the former president of the defunct bank, Clifford C. Bishop, a former director, Walter Plugge, and his son, Walter C. Plugge.

Federal charges have been filed against several persons in connection with the closing of the bank.

Embezzlement

Bishop was charged with two counts of embezzlement, two counts of false entry and 4 counts of unauthorized loans.

Walter Plugge was charged with two counts of conspiracy to commit a felony and 7 counts of unauthorized loans.

Walter C. Plugge was charged with 4 counts of conspiracy to commit a felony and 4 counts of false statements of financial condition.

The bank was taken over and liquidated by the State Banking Department after a routine check by state examiners revealed more than $170,000 missing.

Open Housing Referral Desk Gets Requests

City Hall's "open occupancy" housing referral desk has received 5 requests for listing forms during its initial two days of operation.

The questionnaire enables the owner to list particulars concerning the rental property being offered on an "open occupancy" basis.

Public Safety Director Emmett Junge said the housing desk received the most inquiries during its first day.

Several others were for general information, he said.

The desk was established by the City Council in line with the Mayor Council's on Human Relations recommendations for an "open occupancy" policy.

Also under consideration by the Council are administrative needs for effective enforcement of the city's minimum standards requirements for existing housing and an approach to providing low-rent housing as shown needed by the Minority Housing Report.

Sniper Claims Love's Cooled

Painesville, Ohio (P)—Floyd E. Hargrove said Tuesday he no longer is in love with the former model whose husband he has admitted killing.

Told during an interview in his cell that Mrs. Lois Clark wanted him executed for the slaying, Hargrove replied: "I can't blame her. That's a closed chapter now."

The 35-year-old truck driver was relaxed and rested from the influence of a "truth serum" under which he filled in some gaps Monday in his account of the sniper slaying of Charles R. Clark on Christmas Eve.

Clark, 35, was killed by a bullet that crashed through a kitchen window at his home in nearby Mentor.

Early Wednesday Mercury Reading Hits 20 Degrees

Lincoln's temperature rose to 20 early Wednesday morning.

Tuesday the mercury dropped to a nippy 6 degrees below zero around 8 a.m.

Lincoln's Tuesday low, but climbed almost steadily all day and through the evening.

The second blast of arctic air to hit Nebraska in two days dropped temperatures around the state to subzero readings, Tuesday with the state low of 24 degrees below zero reported at Norfolk.

The state high Tuesday was 34 reported at both Sidney and Scottsbluff.

Warmer temperatures are expected Wednesday with highs in the 30s.

Steel Battlers Ink New Pact

... CEREMONY ENDS LONG FIGHT

Washington (P)—The steelworkers union and the nation's big steel producers Tuesday sealed their new pact ensuring peace in the industry at least for 2½ years.

The signing of agreements covering 11 major steel firms came in an atmosphere of goodwill—a far cry from the bitterness that marked most of the 8-month wage dispute.

Final touches were put on the pact after two top union bodies — its executive board and its 171-member wage policy committee—had unanimously endorsed the settlement terms.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who along with Vice President Richard M. Nixon helped fashion the settlement, was present at the signing. He warmly congratulated both sides.

Bury Hatchet

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, and David J. McDonald, union president, shook hands and buried the hatchet, and pledged to work for maximum and most efficient steel production.

"I want to tell the world," McDonald said, "if you think the American steel industry has been great, you ain't seen nothin' yet. Watch us do a job."

Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., said: "It's been a long struggle. It's over. We look forward to maximum co-operation to do the job we have ahead."

Cocktail Party

Several hundred union leaders cheered these comments and one and all trooped into a mass cocktail party hosted by the union.

The agreement, most of whose terms had leaked out beforehand, calls for a 30-month contract to July 1, 1962.

3 Jets Scrap Over Jordan

Amman, Jordan (P)—A dogfight between a Jordan fighter plane and two Israeli fighters took place over Jordan territory Tuesday, a military spokesman said.

Jordan authorities have lodged a complaint with the U.N. truce supervision organization in Jerusalem.

The two Israeli jets attacked 25 miles inside Jordan, the spokesman claimed.

He did not say whether any plane was hit.

Train Leaps From Tracks

... SPEED BRED TRAGIC MISHAP

Monza, Italy (AP)—A packed commuter train thundered across a temporary bridge in thick fog Tuesday, careened into a sharp curve and hurtled off the rails. It piled up in a jumble of wreckage and torn bodies.

The Ministry of Transport said 15 persons were killed, and 124 injured. It previously had reported 25 dead.

Jammed with about 1,000 passengers the train had just cleared the temporary bridge on the outskirts of this auto-racing city 10 miles north of Milan.

The train, an electric locomotive and 9 cars, was on its regular morning rush hour run from Sondrio through Monza to Milan carrying workers and students.

The locomotive and 5 cars behind it plowed off the rails. The last 4 cars remained on the tracks.

One coach smashed through a concrete wall adjoining the elevated right-of-way and crashed into the roof of a two-story factory building. Then it fell and overturned.

Another bounced into the air and fell back down on an upended rail. The rail stabbed through 3 passengers, killing them, and pierced the roof. One of the passengers killed by the rail was a Roman Catholic priest.

Of the total injured, 76 were hospitalized, 5 of them in grave condition.

The Transport Ministry, operator of Italy's national railways, said that speed on the curve was limited to 6 miles an hour and the train was making 45 miles an hour. It blamed the accident on excessive speed and heavy fog. It was so dense passengers could not see buildings along the tracks.

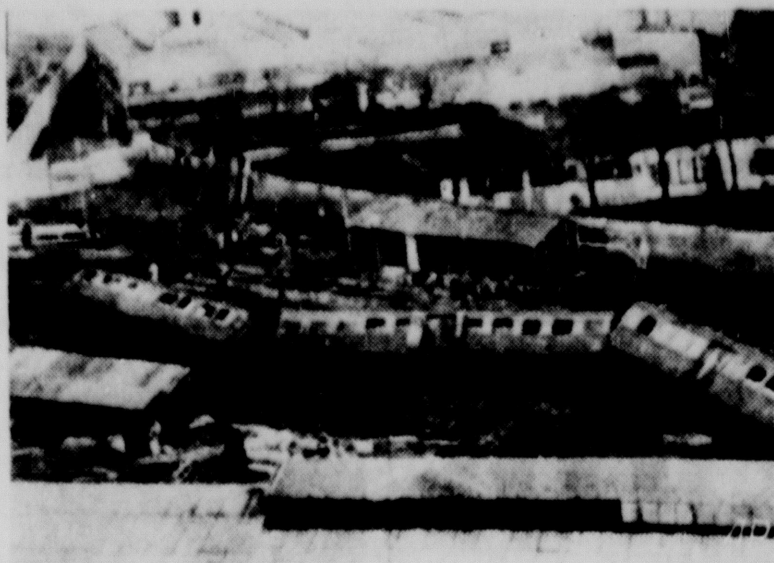

Tall, slim, tousle-haired Richard T. Seaver showed no remorse when he was arraigned on a first degree murder charge in Malden District Court.

During questioning he blurted out a story of slaying his mother in their Melrose home, 7 miles from Boston. Melrose police went to his home and found the body of Mrs. Eleanor Lee Seaver, 42, an attractive divorcee, in a closet of an unused bedroom.

An autopsy disclosed that Mrs. Seaver, who worked as a waitress in a Lynn restaurant, had been stabbed 30 times with scissors and a breadknife. She also had been struck on the head with a hammer and garroted with an electric cord.

City Council Blocks Highway Zoning Plan

By Virgil Falloon

The City Council unanimously denied highway commercial zoning of a 1.5-acre tract fronting 640 feet on West O about 3 miles west from the Harris Overpass.

The tract, presently occupied by the A.C. Nelsen Co., is being used for a trailer sales operation, which city officials point out violates the present rural zoning.

The zoning change was requested by C. Clifton Nelson and the Central Investment Co.

The City-County Planning Commission had recommended against highway commercial zoning of the tract as leading to strip zoning along West O and as undesirable for traffic flow along the major Lincoln access highway.

The Council indefinitely deferred action on proposed light industry zoning of a 14th and Claremont tract as requested by the Salvation Army.

Council action on ordinances:

Introduced, 1st Reading

—Acceptance of Sixth's Replat, 8 lots near 70th and Holdrege.

Passed, 3rd Reading

—An ordinance relating to duties of the mayor in signing contracts as authorized by a city charter amendment.

—Water District 514 being East Avon Lane from Colony to Carlos; Colony Lane from Vine to West Avon; and Scenic Lane from East Avon to West Avon.

—Water District 515 being 54th from J to L.

—Water District 516 being 60th from Holdrege to Aylesworth.

—Water District 517 being 61st from Holdrege to Aylesworth.

—Sewer District 679 being East Avon Lane from Lancaster to Carlos; Colony Lane from Vine to West Avon; and Scenic Lane from East Avon to West Avon.

—Ornamental Light District 55 being East Avon Lane from Lancaster to Carlos; Colony Lane from Vine to West Avon; and Scenic Lane from East Avon to West Avon.

—Improvement District 58 being 34th from J to L.

All Council members were present for the regular meeting.

Thorough Meat Study Under Way In Lincoln

By Len Colson

A thorough study into the current meat inspection program in Lincoln and Lancaster County is being conducted and a proposal for a new meat ordinance may be submitted within a few months, Dr. George Underwood, Lincoln director of health, said Tuesday.

"The current meat ordinance is unenforceable," said Dr. Underwood at the monthly meeting of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Board of Health.

Farmers will often bring animals to smaller butcher houses after the animals have been turned down by federal inspectors at the larger meat packing firms, claimed Dr. Underwood. These butcher houses will then slaughter and sell the animals without notifying health authorities, he added.

Too Late

"We sometimes find out about it two weeks later when it's too late," said Underwood.

Dr. Underwood said that no proposal would be submitted until action is taken by the State of Nebraska which is looking into the feasibility of putting meat inspection under state control.

In other business, the Board appointed 3 of its members, Dr. F. G. Lyman, J. B. Dresselhaus and Mrs. Helen Boosalis, to meet with the City Milk Sanitation Dept. to study the current milk inspection fee program.

Twice The Amount

Dr. Underwood reported to the group that the County is now inspecting "twice the amount of milk that is consumed in the County."

He said costs for inspecting milk last year were $37,000 while fees amounted to $22,000. In other words, he asserted, the County is paying $15,000 to inspect milk which will be consumed in cities outside the County area.

A change in the present milk ordinance will be proposed when the findings of the committee are completed, he said.

The group also read a report citing the amount of $87,484.53 spent by the County Health Department from July to December 1959. This is 48% of the total of $180,000 appropriated to the Department for the entire fiscal year.

The Board also approved the employment of Mrs. Louise Schleich, graduate nurse grade II.

Members present for Tuesday's meeting were: Dr. Frank Stone, president; J. B. Dresselhaus, vice president; Wendel Cobleigh, Dr. F. G. Lyman, Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Kenneth Bourne, Emmett Junge, Paul Douglas, Dr. Underwood and Mrs. Hobart Beavers of Bennett, who was recently appointed to the Board.

DAVIS THE PICK OF GOV. LONG

Baton Rouge (AP)—Gov. Earl Long Tuesday ended a month-long silence after his political defeat and said he voted for former Gov. Jimmie Davis in the Democratic runoff for governor.

Davis, 53, wartime governor, and DeLesseps Morrison, 47, serving his fourth term as New Orleans mayor, are racing closely for the Democratic nomination in the second primary Saturday.

The 64-year-old Long, looking rested and healthy, said he cast an advance absentee ballot for Davis Monday while in Winnfield, his home town.

The two anti-Longs entered the runoff after Morrison ran first and Davis second in an 11-man field during the Dec. 5th first primary.

Voters rejected Long twice Dec. 5th. Former Gov. James A. Noe, whom he backed as a successor, ran fourth, while Long managed only the third spot in a 6-man race for lieutenant governor.

Wicked City Search Fails

Amman, Jordan (AP)—Two frogmen Tuesday ended a fruitless week-long search of the muddy floor of the Dead Sea for the biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

Both divers complained of poor underwater visibility due to mud and silt and said they would resume their search next spring.

The searchers were Vincent Barwood, a professor at American University in Beirut and a former Canadian army frogman and Melvin Rizzie, an officer with the U.S. technical aid mission in Amman.

Rizzie said their interest in the 4,000-year-old cities began last October when he and Barwood were flying over the Dead Sea and saw what looked like a long wall on the ocean bottom.

Cadillac

Silence is the Voice of Quality

Get behind the wheel of a new Cadillac car some day soon—point its handsome hood down your favorite stretch of highway—and listen!

Except for the occasional lullaby of the passing breeze, there will be literally nothing but silence to greet your ears.

But, oh, how meaningful that silence is!

For it speaks, with irrefutable logic, of the ingenuity of Cadillac design—and of the soundness of Cadillac engineering—and of the excellence and solid integrity of Cadillac craftsmanship.

And just as silence is the voice of quality in a motor car—so quality is the product of experience.

For almost six decades, Cadillac has devoted itself exclusively to the creation of the finest motor cars that the current automotive science would permit.

So rigid, in fact, has been Cadillac's adherence to the principles of quality that the two have become virtually inseparable in the public mind.

Never before, however, has this quest for perfection been as fruitful as for 1960.

In its styling and design, in its construction and assembly, and in its attention to detail—it is, far and away, the finest Cadillac yet.

We suggest that you see this new Cadillac—and drive it—and listen to it—very soon.

You'll find, we're certain, that the quiet of a Cadillac is the most eloquent sound in motordom.

Nebraska Polio Cases Totaled 131 During '59

By Germaine Deal
According to figures released by the State Health Department Tuesday, Nebraska had a total of 131 polio cases in 1959, with 8 deaths. Of these, Lancaster County reported 29 cases and one death.

The county's sole polio death was Mrs. Andrew Kaeding, 41, of 231 No. First. She had had two Salk vaccine shots.

State Chapter Of Contractors Names Directors

Six new directors have been elected by the Nebraska chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, L. L. Koenig of Grand Island, president, announced Tuesday.

One director was re-elected.

The new directors are Robert Nichols of Geneva, Eugene O'Meara of Hartington, L. C. Curtis Jr. of Omaha, F. S. Lacy of Omaha, G. G. Robinson of Lincoln, and Dale Skinner of Grand Island.

The re-elected director is C. R. Cooper of Beatrice.

Take Office

They will take office during the AGC annual convention later this month and serve two-year terms, Koenig said.

The Nebraska chapter of AGC is composed of general contractors who build most of the state's highways, streets, airfields, water distribution systems, dams and reclamation projects, Koenig said.

Retiring directors are Robert Stump of Lincoln, Philip Werner of Clay Center, W. F. Anderson of Holdrege, W. E. Swanson of Lincoln, and Robert Dobson of Lincoln.

Lancaster County cases remain hospitalized.

Joni Thomas, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon J. Thomas of 645 No. 6th Ave., is still in an iron lung at a local hospital, according to Morris Siegel, chairman of the Lancaster County Chapter of the National Foundation.

No Vaccine

Joni, who was hospitalized in late October, had had no Salk vaccine.

Still hospitalized, but not in Lincoln, is Mrs. Ruth Carmel, 24. Mrs. Carmel, whose husband was stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base, had had no vaccine.

In addition to the two hospitalized cases, 6 persons suffered paralysis from the crippling disease. Of these, one had received all three Salk vaccine shots and a booster shot.

However, those having had no vaccine seemed to be more susceptible to polio. Ten persons had no shots, 4 had 2, 4 had 3, and 1 had 4. Figures were not available on the other 10 cases.

Base Connection

The disease struck twice in each of two families, and seemed to be predominant among Lincoln Air Force Base personnel and members of their families. A total of 13 cases had some connection with the base.

Age seemed to have little bearing on contraction of polio, as only 7 of the 29 cases were under 12 years of age. The average age of all cases was 24 and the average of cases 13 years of age and over was 30.

So far 1960 has a clean slate as far as polio is concerned, the State Health Department reports. However, officials noted that at this time last year the state had no polio, but went on to have one of its worst polio years in several years.

American Coed Was Murder Sack Victim

... POLICE HOLD YACHT HAND IN PROBE

Tangier (UPI)—Police Tuesday officially identified Tangier's "murder sack" mystery victim as Barbara Helen Mueller, a 19-year-old New York co-ed, who came alone to this North African port as a tourist seeking adventure. The police indicated they knew who killed her.

A Tangier police spokesman said there no longer was any doubt that the mutilated body found in a gunnysack Dec. 13, in Kadiria Forest, 5 miles from this Moroccan port, was that of the missing New York girl.

Authorities, meanwhile, continued a virtual non-stop questioning of William Edward Moore, 26-year-old English yacht hand who had been a companion of Miss Mueller before she vanished from her hotel here Nov. 19.

Tax On Bower Estate Is $1,280

A $1,280.20 inheritance tax was levied by County Judge Herbert A. Ronin against the $83,363.14 estate of the late Charles F. Bower of Lincoln.

Mr. Bower, who died Feb. 17, 1959, was former chairman of the C. F. Bower Construction Co. of Nebraska City, but had lived at 725 So. 30th in Lincoln.

The Cedars Home Foundation received a bequest of $40,175.44 under terms of his will and another $20,087.72 was left to the Childrens Home Society of St. Louis, Mo.

Emergency Landing Is Successful

... LAFB Tanker

A Lincoln Air Force Base KC97 refueling tanker made a successful emergency landing at Forbes Air Force Base near Topeka, Kan., early Tuesday afternoon.

The crew encountered trouble with the cowling on one of the tanker's engines shortly after takeoff from Lincoln. This caused excessive vibration to the aircraft.

The crew was forced to "dump" most of its fuel, prior to attempting the emergency landing.

The aircraft was diverted to Forbes where it landed safely. There were no injuries.

Capt. John McLaughlin of 1611 Cheyenne is commander of the aircraft, which is assigned to the 307th Air Refueling Squadron.

Drunken Driving Charge Reduced Due To 'Insufficient Evidence'

City Prosecutor Thomas Gorham said he reduced a drunken driving charge against a University of Nebraska assistant professor to reckless driving because of "insufficient evidence."

Dr. Jack Morell Anderson, 28, of 1118 G, an assistant professor of mathematics and astronomy at NU, had pleaded guilty to the reckless driving charge last Thursday and was fined $100. He earlier had pleaded innocent to a drunken driving charge but Gorham amended the complaint.

Gorham gave these 3 reasons for reducing the charge against Anderson:

—The urine sample obtained from Anderson following his arrest Dec. 17 was "not exceptionally high" in alcoholic content, Gorham said. The sample contained .24% of alcohol, according to a City-County Health Dept. report, and state law requires only .15% for conviction of drunken driving.

—There was no accident involved in Anderson's arrest. (He was arrested after police had chased his car at speeds up to 65 m.p.h. from 13th and F to 13th and Harrison.)

—Anderson was experiencing "no apparent difficulty" in driving and came to the officers' attention only because of the excessive speed. Gorham said he believed these factors would have resulted in insufficient evidence to convict Anderson before a Lancaster District Court jury if Anderson had been convicted before Municipal Judge Richard O. Johnson and then appealed the conviction to District Court.

State Securities Has 'Good Year'

State Securities Company, 1130 N. reported a very good year for 1959 at the annual meeting.

President Clyde Card predicted that the company could expect an even greater increase in business in 1960, the company's 33rd year of business.

All officers and directors of the company were re-elected.

A new interest rate of 4% on savings was announced.

Cold An Attitude

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When Mother bundles Junior up for the four or five-block walk to and from school, one would think we were living at the North Pole. There is just no small amount of fretting over whether the youngster will make the trip without a case of frostbite or frozen toes. And Junior plays along with things, complaining bitterly when he gets home that his hands are cold, his feet are cold and all in all, he should not have been sent to school on such a cold morning.

Having played his part to the hilt and milking the situation dry of every bit of sympathy it contains, he starts outside for an afternoon of sleigh-riding, minus coat, gloves, hat and overshoes. You practically have to hog-tie the lad to get him to stand still long enough to get properly clad for the bitter cold outside. But once attired, he goes out and stays there for two or three hours. When he comes in, he is as warm as toast and happy as a lark. He doesn't bother to try to figure out how he could get cold in a 10-minute walk from school but he warm as a bug in a rug for the two-hour sledding stint. Mother might try to figure it out but she just ends up confused and somewhat skeptical of the whole affair.

Actually, it is possible that the youngster was telling the truth all the time. He might have been cold on the way home from school but warm when out for even a much longer period of time. For it seems to be a fact that it is a person's frame of mind as well as the temperature which determines comfort out of doors in the winter.

A visit to Pioneers Park should convince you of this. The road along the east side of beautiful Pinewood Bowl (and it is even more beautiful in the winter than at other times of the year) has been roped off for sledding. This provides a long slide down a steep hill and through a mighty picturesque setting.

The fantastic part about it is that the slide will draw up to 10,000 people during the course of a day. And these people are a long way from cold when they are enjoying the ride down the hill. The oldsters do a lot of puffing as they climb back up the slide but they are a lot more tired than cold. Some of these people stay out for hours at a time and never feel the bite of sub-zero temperatures. At other places in the park one will find skiing, although not as popular as sledding. Even a fall into a snowdrift fails to daunt the spirits of these hardy enthusiasts.

In many places throughout the city, ice provides a popular winter sport. There is something about ice-skating which makes it hard to beat at any time of year. During the evening hours, particularly, it is a rewarding experience. All one hears is an occasional popping of the ice and slicing of a skate's blade over the smooth surface. The big fire you are likely to see along the edge of the pond or lake is a place for the skaters to warm their hands and feet but it is there for another purpose, too.

The fire adds a touch all its own, just as might the fireplace in your living room. It isn't just the heat it generates that counts, but rather, the atmosphere that it creates. The fire does a million dances and constantly changes the faces of all those sitting around it. It can make friends out of people who have never before seen each other and who may never meet again.

Of course, every year at this time the Park Department comes in for a certain amount of criticism because of the condition of the ice on city ponds. Perhaps some of the criticism is justified but it is a difficult job the city has in keeping the ice in good condition. Snow hurts the surface of ice and, of course, must be cleared off before skating is any good.

Spraying of the surface is done periodically but this effort is often ruined by pranksters who think it is funny to throw rocks and other debris through the ice. These obstacles are often left protruding from the surface to ruin the skating. Also, too many people get on the ice before it has properly frozen. This makes a rough surface which is then frozen in until the area can be sprayed again. But even at its worst, skating in the winter is a wonderful experience and a healthful sport. And you can find skaters who think nothing of spending three or four hours on the ice. There they suffer not a minute from the cold.

Of course, many things such as the humidity and the wind contribute to the cold but the big single factor is probably our own physical condition and outlook. If we are physically fit and approach the low temperatures with the right attitude, chances are that we would hardly notice the cold at all. What most of us do is let our fear of being uncomfortable conquer us.

ment of any such change would be a distinct service to the state.

A third area of agreement can be found in the state chairman's recommendation for a change in the composition of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles to provide membership for experts in criminology. This idea has been pushed in the past by Attorney General Clarence S. Beck but, in a broadened program, lost out in the last session of the Legislature.

The bill defeated in 1959 went further than a change in the membership of the board. It proposed to place the imposition of sentences in the hands of the board. While this latter move is a very questionable one, there is no doubt that the membership of the board could be improved for the functions of pardon and parole work now done by the board. The present board membership does not constitute sufficient experience and training to deal with the technical and psychological aspects of advance release of convicted felons.

Areas Of Agreement

Space was devoted on this page yesterday to many of the things said by Republican State Chairman Charles Thone to which considerable exception could be taken. This, then, brings up those things on which agreement can be found but which space ruled out earlier. One of the things Thone called for was abolition of secret votes in legislative committee sessions. This issue has been fought out on the floor of the Legislature itself but the sessions have remained hidden from public scrutiny.

Thone is on solid ground when he advances any such cause as this which can lead only to a more enlightened public and a greater understanding of the ways in which our state laws are formulated. Thone seemed to go only about halfway toward a broadened tax base but any step in this direction would be a welcome one. The Republican party would find strong pockets of opposition to either a sales or income tax or a combination of both but the achieve-

Godspeed The Governor

Governor R. G. Brooks has called upon neighboring governors to accompany him to the national capital. The purpose: To discourage the administration in its declared intention to remove acreage limitations from wheat with a price support based on an average of the open market.

Win or lose—this is a noteworthy development.

It marks the end of a long period of complacency in the state house, a moment when Nebraska's biggest and most enduring problem—the sick farm economy—can look forward to something better than to be swept under the rug. In the past it has been a dismal commentary that the physicians at the bedside were so little interested in healing the patient. Dr. Brooks' medicine may not get to the patient, but there is going to be a struggle at the bedside, and that is the harbinger of more active therapy.

In terms of economic logic the governor has the best of the argument going in, if for no other reason than that he has the record and precedent of the failure of declining supports and unlimited planting in corn. When the program was applied to the 1959 crop the result was falling prices and greater surpluses than ever. Only a devotee of chaos could applaud the result.

There is this about a farm remedy. It will be a long time, if ever, coming if the states, themselves, do not stir about with both resistance to follies and constructive ideas for a cure.

If Gov. Brooks achieves no more than to bring the problem more actively to the attention of the agricultural states he will have performed an act of important constructive service.

Cities Want Status

Mayors of 11 major cities recently went to Washington to plead a case for the creation of a cabinet department for urban affairs.

There was no indication that the federal government will respond promptly, but the fact that the mayors found it advantageous to make the trip calls to mind a real problem. It is simply that most of the nation's population lives under a subdivision of government—the municipality—with a minimum amount of sovereignty. Hardships have resulted.

A city's legislative power is subordinate to and limited by a state legislature. Municipalities have only such taxing power as is parceled out to them, and have little if any control over property assessments. They have minority representation in state legislatures. Even county governments are more sovereign, and school districts, while lacking legislative power and assessing authority, are generally much less limited in tax levying.

Almost a century ago James Bryce, British political scholar, studied the American governmental system and decided that it made sense in all respects except where cities are concerned. The system, he concluded, seems to have provided no place for the city. Yet the cities carry the heavy burden in providing the costly and unusual services for the larger part of the population while fulfilling the function of principal service center for the non urban population.

This is perhaps why the mayors went to Washington and not to their respective state capitals. Their voting influence is greater in national politics and they are more apt to receive beneficial aid from Washington than from their state capital. As the urban problems mount it seems inevitable that the federalizing of America will grow with it, which is something the American people assert they do not want. Certainly it will unless the states, themselves, give greater thought to the position of the city as a member of the family.

Rules Committee Power Unbroken

WASHINGTON — Congressman Chet Holifield of Los Angeles is one of two haberdashers who have achieved fame in Washington. And while he has not achieved the fame of the man from Independence, the congressman from Los Angeles, unlike Harry Truman, still works at the job. Just before Christmas, Holifield was in the back room of his men's clothing store making alterations on suits while Mrs. Holifield helped tend store out front.

Holifield has been tending store and making alterations for 17 years and is proud of his record. He can also be proud — though he doesn't boast about it — of his record in Congress. He has stimulated more thinking about the future of atomic energy than any other congressman and had a lot to do with exposing the Dixon-Yates scandal.

Exactly one year ago Chet Holifield tackled another problem where he was not so successful. He went to see his old friend Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, potential czar of the House of Representatives both in name and in fact, to ask that he relax the veto power of the Rules Committee.

Holifield wanted the committee's power watered down to at least the point given it by the Republican congress. He objected to the stranglehold right of Congressmen Howard Smith of Virginia and Bill Colmer of Mississippi to prevent legislation on housing, slum clearance, education, minimum wages, and other issues from coming to a vote.

Just a few months before, Congressman Smith had disappeared for five days to take care of his cows in Virginia while bills on sewage disposal, urban development, slum clearance, were slowly strangled in his Rules Committee. Holifield reminded Mr. Sam of this fact.

Mr. Sam didn't need to be reminded. He remembered the facts all too well and had been just as sore as Holifield. But Mr. Sam, 78 years old today, has ruled the House longer than any man in history. His instincts are for his fellow men, his personal pride centers on himself.

Speaker Sam told Holifield that he personally would handle Congressman Smith. He gave his word that there would be no further bottling up in the Rules Committee. Holifield and the western-northern Democrats who were about to spearhead a revolt need have no worry about changing the rules, Sam said.

Holifield went back and reported this to the western-northern Democrats. They took Mr. Sam's word, dropped their move to liberalize the rules.

But last summer they found that Mr. Sam's word was not good. He tried. But the same thing happened all over again. Charlie Halleck and his Dixiecrat satellites outsmarted him. A whole series of important bills got blocked by the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition.

Steel Pact Was Political Panacea

WASHINGTON — A political settlement of the steel strike has been reached by politicians headed by Vice President Richard Nixon.

The settlement is a defeat for management and an impairment of the Eisenhower administration's anti-inflation position.

Whether or not management was able to exact a quid pro quo from the White House, and if so, what it is, has not been established. Nor is management yet out of the woods. Having had to raise wages and abandon its demand for control of work rules, it is confronted with the question of when and how much to raise prices.

But the moment it raises prices the Kefauver subcommittee, which is exploring the price field, will call Big Steel to account. Then the whole story of the eight-month strike will come before the court of public opinion with unforeseeable results.

Nevertheless, the administration, and in particular the vice-president who seems destined to head the Republican ticket next fall, felt it could not afford to hand the returning Democratic congress any credit for labor peace. Democrats have already complained that the "indecisive" White House let the deadlock develop with resulting harm to the national economy. It was certain that Congress would move strongly into the picture as its first act.

It is probably just as well that it is not having to do so. Legislation enacted in a time of emotion, economic crisis and presidential politics is rarely wise legislation. The politicians know this; they know also that it is not possible to be certain which way the cat will jump in the end. Most of them are relieved that they do not now have to commit themselves.

Nixon knew, too, that the leading Democratic contender for the presidency, Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts, had hearings planned on the prolonged steel dispute. Kennedy had been demanding direct government action at once.

The vice-president moved to pre-empt the labor peace-maker role. He had the enthusiasm of a cooperative of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, who wants to be on the 1960 Republican ticket with him. They have won the peace they sought and the headlines are blazoning their names to the world.

Unquestionably they are on the side of the angels politically. The exact terms of the settlement are still to come, and its social and economic impact must await the operations of time. At that point the settlement and its details will have become an Eisenhower administration matter and the vice-president will have moved on to other things.

And then the steel operators neglected to look at the calendar. It's 1960—a presidential year.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Decisive Year In Leadership

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. —Crystal ball gazers at UN see 1960 as the year in which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower will battle for world leadership keyed to the rival ideologies of communism and democracy. Both men will exercise to the utmost their personal prestige and diplomatic astuteness in wooing the uncommitted nations. The keynote of this giant struggle must be "peace," tied to the absolute assurance that come what may, there will be no war to rack and devastate the world.

The contest is far from easy. Khrushchev has displayed seductive charms in the deceptive game of diplomacy: the Russian cracks the whip over all Communist top men and has them marching in line with the possible exception of Communist China's Mao Tse-Tung. But even here Khrushchev demonstrated, after reports that the leaders of Red China were disgruntled over the flashy visit to the United States, his capacity for mollifying his partners. He flew to Peking and knocked the props from under rumors in the western world of a rift between him and Mao.

President Eisenhower, on the other hand, must deal across the negotiating table with the NATO allies, and specifically with the British and French in the persons of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Charles de Gaulle. The latter is a man dedicated to rebuilding the "grandeur" of France and becomes difficult to handle when crossed in plans leading to his prime objective, as already discovered by the other western leaders.

President Eisenhower is fighting his battle with another major handicap. That is the deeply-rooted feeling among diplomatic and political leaders in most countries that an election year in the United States compels the White House occupant to drag feet and concentrate on vote-getting campaigning. The remark most commonly heard around diplomats from various corners of the world these days is that "after all" President Eisenhower is an outgoing president and consequently his actions in committing the United States to basic international decisions must necessarily be limited, and particularly in view of the rising personal power of Khrushchev.

Right or wrong, President Eisenhower is giving all evidence that he intends to make his last year in office a memorable one, and leave to his successor a foundation for peace designed to ward off any and all military and subversive attacks by Communism. The scheduled spring summit conference, perhaps the first of a running series, gives Eisenhower an opportunity to assert himself as the outstanding leader of the free world, and by his policies and proposals let the peoples of the unfettered nations decide for themselves who is the leader genuinely interested in their welfare and a secure peace — Khrushchev or Eisenhower?

The 1950 decade, preceded by the war-ridden decade of 1940, was unique in scientific achievements and gave birth to the Space Age. It was marred by the Korean War, and gained by the disappearance of the cruel tyrant Stalin, just as the 1940 years wiped out Hitler. None of us knows whether the 1960 decade will loosen upon us the horrors of an atomic war, although we do know that the seeds are there and the weapons ready.

Space science promises to put man on the moon and in orbit during the 1960 decade, which should see wonders in medical, agricultural and communication fields. Few care to predict, however, that human nature will undergo drastic changes for the better in the next ten years, or that human relations in the world will improve to the extent that they can match the shrinking of the earth's distances through supersonic transportation and the consequent intermixing of peoples from the most distant continents. This racing about may bring more trouble than expected.

A second great development in the cards for 1960 years is the full awakening of the long-sleeping continent of Dark Africa. Colonialism in the sense of the Victorian Age died out in the 1950's, and will never come back. Six African states were born and became UN members in the past few years—Tunisia, Morocco, Libya, Sudan, Ghana and Guinea. Four more are getting their independence this year. A score will be added by 1970. Russia and the United States must vie for their friendship, or lose world leadership.

Thus, hold on to your hats, for 1960 and its decade will move fast and sometimes dangerously, both on and off the dear old Earth.

Weakness And War

Lincoln, Neb.
What cannot go right or left will go up! That follows as surely as day follows night. Our editors scoff, "Where will labor go in 1960?" and title it "From Bad to Worse" and "The Alternative Is Poor."

We talked the same "trash" in 1917 and in 1940 and before the Korean War. We will not have "revolution" but we can have disruptive labor troubles. So, we promise our friends and allies "assistance"—and become weak. Our weakness invites what we fear, war.

Religion Issue

Tryon, Neb.
Turning on my radio to get the six a.m. weather report, I was greeted with the announcement that Sen. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, had announced his candidacy on the Democratic ticket for the office of president of the United States.

Years ago — and it may have been an illusion — I was taught and it was common knowledge that every man who owned a home or tract of land had certain interests in the air and sky above. During World War I our government took over the sky and little by little they claimed it all. They issue licenses to fly, but only so many feet above ground. Also they license radios with restrictions on obscene language and if statements made are not their own, to quote who made them. The weather comes from a weather bureau, wire service, or some other reliable source so named. Political announcements have rules also.

Am I to believe that the station over which this remark came was paid for the announcement, or did the young man make it on his own without charge? If so, did he have a license to make the remark, not quoting anyone or any organization?

Sometime back, I had the pleasure of meeting Sen. Kennedy. He answered questions on TV and the very first question was his religious belief, which he answered. But the man who drew up the questions and asked them had no right whatever to ask.

Religion used to be an issue, but over the years it was thought that people grew up and became of age. Calvin Coolidge once said that there is no nation of people in the world who hold a corner on patriotism and, may I add, creed.

Rural Income

Lincoln, Neb.
It is no surprise that Mr. Benson would not resign. It takes an honest man to admit when he is wrong.

Farm income has dropped 15 per cent this year and is expected to hit the lowest level since 1942, but Mr. Benson is proposing even to lower the price support next year and take the acreage control off of wheat. Now, he can surely see what happened to the corn and milo prices. The same will happen to the wheat price and as far as surplus is concerned, he hasn't seen anything (barring a drought).

We can't blame Benson altogether as long as a farm organization that is supposed to be for the farmers by the name of the Farm Bureau backs him up and proposes lower price supports. The Farm Bureau was the only farm organization that campaigned for the last corn referendum to lower price supports and take away acreage control. And what happened? Ninety-cent corn, 75-cent milo, and the largest corn crop in history.

Now the American Farm Bureau is proposing a new program by linking the wheat support price with corn. Under this proposal, wheat will be supported at 120 per cent of the support price of corn. This would mean a wheat price support at about $1.36 a bushel, or 36 cents a bushel less than last year. The farmers, disgusted with falling prices but still paying $10 membership to the Farm Bureau, have no one to blame but themselves for their votes are used to lower prices.

If the city people think lowering the farmers' products will lower their food bills, just look back when wheat was $2.50 a bushel and bread was 21 cents a loaf. Now wheat is $1.63 a bushel and bread is 22 cents. As for Mr. Benson, the sooner he goes back home, the better. He hasn't done agriculture any good.

Red China's Bubbling Pot May Pour Out Bitter Purge

By Roy Essoyan
Hong Kong (AP)—Red China's Communists appear to be engaged in a bitter behind-scenes struggle which may erupt into a major purge.

Behind the struggle are these factors:

The Red Chinese economy is staggering, despite bombastic claims. Overworked peasants are surly. The Peiping press daily refers to dissension in party ranks and the leaders seem divided on what's to be done about it. There are even indications of division on basic policy.

The struggle dates back a year — perhaps several years. It began to show up in the open in the summer during one of a series of Red Chinese witch-hunts. Those who opposed the "big leap forward" drive to industrialize the nation through harsh regimentation were branded "right opportunists."

Several top leaders lost their jobs or disappeared.

First Vice-Premier Chen Yun, rated No. 5 in the hierarchy, dropped out of sight several months ago, reappeared briefly last October and disappeared again.

Peng Teh-huai, minister of defense and one of China's old revolutionaries, was ousted last September.

Two deputy ministers of foreign affairs, 3 deputy ministers of defense, top officials of other ministries and scores of high officials were ousted without explanation. There has been no announcement of their fate.

This silence could mean the issue still has not been resolved, that Peiping's divided leadership is still arguing.

The party's hard core apparently insists Red China can survive only through cold-blooded regimentation and the tough foreign policy that makes it possible.

Funeral Thursday For Mrs. Everts

Funeral services for Mrs. Angie Everts, 92, one of the oldest members of First Presbyterian Church, will be 2:30 p.m. Thursday at Hodgman-Splain Chapel, Dr. C. Vin White officiating.

Burial will be in Wyuka.

Mrs. Everts, who lived at 1826 F, was the widow of Frank L. Everts. She was born in Charles City, Ia., in 1867, and had lived in Lincoln since 1888.

Survivors include two sons, Dr. Glenn S. Everts of Philadelphia and Fred D. Everts of Lincoln; one sister, Mrs. Carrie Jackson of Ross, Calif.; two granddaughters, Mrs. C. W. Hurley of Chicago, and Miss Michele Everts of Germany, and two great granddaughters.

GOP Head's Condition Is Good After Injury

Lancaster County Republican Chairman Russell Brehm was reported in good condition Tuesday at a local hospital following a Monday night fall which resulted in a fractured ankle.

According to Mrs. Brehm, her husband slipped and fell on some ice in downtown Lincoln, fracturing his ankle in 2 places. She said he would be hospitalized until Thursday.

There is a popular tree near Waterloo, N.Y., where a young soldier in the Civil War hung his scythe with the request that it not be removed until he returned. He didn't return. The growing tree has now almost enveloped the scythe so that only a few inches of the blade now show.

Magazine Editor Claims:

Reds' Economic, Political Conquest Real As Warfare

Communist Russia's continued conquest of the world during the 1960's by economic and political penetration will be just as real as open warfare, the Editor of

"Think" magazine warned Tuesday in Lincoln.

Dr. Dwayne Orton of New York City, a Rotarian and official of International Business Machines, addressed the Lincoln Rotary Club with a challenge to remain alert to Communist objectives.

Khrushchev's stated belief, during his visit to America, that socialism will triumph over capitalism in the process of history should leave no doubt as to Russia's objectives, the speaker said.

Actor Asks Open Mind From Court

... TOOK KIDS

Los Angeles (AP)—Actor Sterling Hayden admitted frankly that he knew what he was doing when he defied a court's order and took his children on a voyage to Tahiti. He then made a fervent plea for the court's understanding.

The judge said he'll pronounce sentence next Thursday on Hayden's plea of guilty of contempt of court.

"I apologize for the fact that I felt this was the thing I had to do," Hayden said. "I regret that I had to defy your honor's ruling in this case. . . . I felt that in order to stand on my own two feet and be a proper man I had to do work other than what I was doing."

Hayden has said he is ashamed of some of the work he did as an actor. He says he will abandon his career if he can't find roles he can do and maintain his self respect.

Atomic Stalemate

The present stalemate in the atomic arms race, which could wipe out the globe, is giving time to the development of "competitive co-existence," the former college professor said.

But he added: "They're playing for keeps."

Dr. Orton pointed out that the Russian language is apart from those of the rest of the world.

In Russia, "good" means that which is good for communism; "truth" is that which furthers the cause of communism, and "peace" is defined as the succession of all opposition to communism.

"Even the word, 'aggression,' is defined as resistance to Communism as well as attack," he said. "This is why the Russians could say that the United States was the aggressor in Korea."

"This is the way of life and the language of a political philosophy that rules one-half of the world's population," he said.

Trade to the Communist mind means political penetration through economic channels, the speaker said.

He told Superior Judge Emil Gumpert, who nearly a year ago restrained Hayden from taking his children from the court's jurisdiction:

"I was stunned by the decision. I felt a direct and grinding conflict between my respect for the law and the best interests of my children."

Must Be War

The United States will trade with the U.S.S.R., but he added: "We must be wary in dealing with a country that doesn't even respect copyrights and patents of the civilized world."

America was the first nation to break the "colonial yoke," the first to practice modern democracy, the first to establish free, universal education, and the first to develop mass production for the greatest good to the greatest number, Dr. Orton continued.

Florida Man Is Added To FBI's Top 10 List

Billy Owens Williams, 32, of Tampa, Fla., wanted by Florida authorities on the charge of kidnaping and armed robbery, has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives," according to the Lincoln FBI office.

Williams, a Negro, is described as 5'11½" tall, weighing 164 to 175 pounds, and has black hair, brown eyes, and a dark brown complexion.

Peru Honors Mrs. Larson And Winger

Lincoln Star Special
Peru — Darrell Winger and Mrs. F. H. Larson have been selected as Peru's man and woman of the year. They were chosen for the honors by the people of Peru and the Peru Pointer, weekly newspaper.

Winger, a member of the Peru State Teachers College faculty, was cited for "his services to the community."

Nebraska News

over and above the successful conduct of his vocation. Her years of community service earned the recognition for Mrs. Larson, whose husband is registrar at Peru College.

After teaching in Kansas, Winger joined the Peru faculty in 1952 as associate professor of educational psychology. Since he has received his doctor's degree from Colorado State at Greeley, while continuing his college duties at Peru.

Active in Boy Scout work, he is also an active member and worker in the Peru Volunteer Fire Department, secretary of the Masonic Lodge, and member of the board of directors of the Kiwanis Club.

For the past 4 years, under license of the Methodist Church, he has been pastor of the Bethel Community Church, where his wife, Ardith, has helped him in revitalizing the church. He has spent several summer vacations as a tourist guide in Yellowstone National Park.

The Wingers are the parents of 4 small sons. Mrs. Larson's services have included work with the Auburn Lutheran Church and the Baptist and Methodist Churches at Peru; heading the police drive for the past two years; 4-H club leadership; work the PTA; helping with the Well Child Clinic; assisting in fund drive for retarded children and the heart fund drive; membership in Faculty Woman's Club, and in Quercus Club.

Mrs. Larson and her husband have 3 children and one grandchild.

Gross Sentenced To 30-Day Term

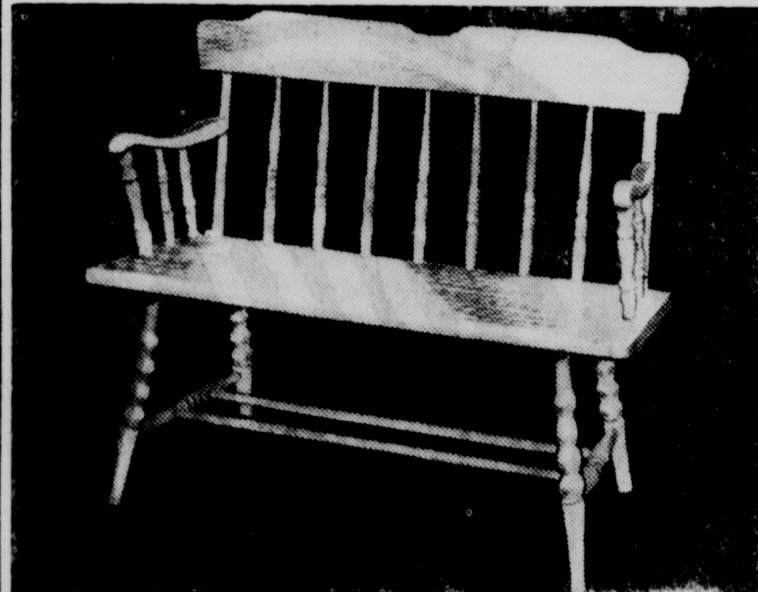

Gering — Elmer Gross, 22, of Scottsbluff, pleaded guilty in District Court to charges of being an accessory to leaving the scene of a fatal accident.

Gross was sentenced to 30 days in the Scotts Bluff County jail.

He was charged with Garland Green, 20, of Scottsbluff, driver of the car, in the death of Walter Red Eyes, 15, of Kyle, S.D., last Dec. 6. Red Eyes was a pedestrian.

Green pleaded innocent and is awaiting hearing in District Court.

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

"Don't get it right, get it written."
—Thurber's Fables
The art of press agency is full of grace notes. Majors and minors.
It is generally written in a lilt.
A fine, brisk winter's morning today. The sky is as blue as a Chinaman's breeches and a rifle of white caps are on the ocean. The mail is full of startling information.
"Rosemary Kneecap, 18-year-old honey-blonde from the University of Candycane, has been elected Miss Potato Chips of 1960. It was announced today by Garrulous Forthright, president of the Crunchy Potato Chip Corporation . . ."
The potato chip press agent is a friend of mine. Together we split infinitives on the dailies. Harassed by the Bad Guys for being bad and chivied the Good Guys for not being good enough to catch the Bad Guys.
Those were the days.

The potato chip release comes on mimeographed paper. My friend has written a note at the bottom: "Hope you can use this—get Forthright's name in it if you can, will you?—The account is still shaky. If you need statistics on how many potato chips people eat, send me a kite. What have you been doing lately? Man, this is a rat race."
I am sympathetic. I hope Miss Kneecap goes on to bigger and better things. That potato chips should sell. I did a little stint of this Organization Man thing. A little hitch at the publicity desk myself once. Flung roses, roses riotously with the throng, Cynara.
Boy, were those roses full of thorns.

I did indeed and wrote it, too. And though these things were mildly deceptive, I always felt the staid world was a little better off for all of it.

Control Meet

Robert L. Storer, a former Lincoln resident and now manager of quality control for Rocketdyne's Solid Propulsion Operations in Mcrore, Tex., will address the Omaha-Lincoln section of American Society for Quality Control Friday at 7 p.m. in Lincoln.

He will discuss "Quality Control Planning" at the section's meeting at the Town and Country Restaurant. The public is invited to attend.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Storer first entered inspection engineering work with the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps in 1950. In 1956, he was named assistant manager of quality control for the Rocket Fuels Division of Phillips Petroleum Company.

In January, 1958, he was appointed manager of quality control for Astrodyne, a new company jointly owned by Phillips and North American Aviation. He assumed his present position in October, 1959, when Astrodyne was purchased by North American and reorganized as the Solid Propulsion Operations of its Rocketdyne Division.

Storer, a graduate of Lincoln High, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Storer, 3018 Plymouth Street, Lincoln.

Chairman of the Omaha-Lincoln section is Ed Murphy, quality director of the Good-year plant in Lincoln; vice chairman is Prof. Niles Barnard, program chairman. Prof. Robert W. Mills, both of the University of Nebraska.

ASK— Dorothy Draper

I am always enthusiastic about people who have imagination and aren't afraid to use it. Some friends of mine in the middle west invited me after dinner one night to drive out to see what had been their week-end house but was not their all-week house.

We came up out of the woods to a river and there in the moonlight stood a one-story house of very dark brown wood with white trim and a shocking pink door with a big brass knocker. But leading up to the front door were six shocking pink carousel horses which they had bought from an old merry-go-round. Three horses pranced up either side of the path and each horse had a pannier or basket filled with white petunias. We can't all have carousel horses on our front lawn, but we can use our imagination. So let's do it!

Mrs. A. M. asks:
"Will you tell me if I have too many colors in my living room? It is a large room 16x26 feet. The walls are gray; woodwork, white; one small sofa and two antique chairs are crimson red; one wing chair is yellow; one arm chair, chartreuse; a large sofa is in red and green stripes; draperies are white background with yellow flowers. Have gold cabinet in the room; also pictures framed in gold. Rug is gray."

Dear Mrs. A. M.:
I love red as you know, but somehow I wonder if that small crimson red sofa and two antique chairs and that large sofa in red and green stripes don't sort of shriek at the yellow and chartreuse chair and the yellow flowers in your curtains. It would be better if the small sofa and chairs were in a shade more in tune with the pillows, say, a tangerine—and the large sofa could be in that subtle new green olive with yellow and tangerine throw pillows. Whatever you do I would eliminate that red and green striped fabric on the sofa!

Mrs. G. A. F. asks:
"I would like to know what color to use on the outside of our house to make it appear lower. It's a story and a half house and at present it's all white. Could you suggest a trim or what could we do? We live on a farm and the rest of buildings are all white with a dark green trim."

Dear Mrs. G. A. F.:
Why not reverse the color scheme of the rest of the buildings and paint the house a rich, dark green with white shutters and trim with a bright yellow door. The dark color would certainly seem to bring your house down from the clouds and I think it would be most attractive.

Dear Abby-- Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two little boys, 3 and 4. I have another child on the way. My husband died six months ago when our tractor overturned on him.

Our pastor is begging me to marry him. He spends every spare minute trying to help me and the boys, and they love him very much. I am 27, and he is 33.

My problem is I admire and respect this man, but I don't love with the exciting kind of love every woman dreams about. He says it doesn't matter that I don't love him that way and that I will learn to love him because he will make me happy.

I want my children to have a father and I know this man will make a good one. Is it possible to build a marriage on this foundation?

UNDECIDED:
Run, do not walk to the nearest altar. Mutual admiration and respect are often a sturdier foundation for marriage than "the exciting kind of love every woman dreams about."

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh when I read the letter from the poor lady who said her husband refused to be seen walking on the street with her if she wore eyeglasses.

I have the same trouble with my wife. Only it is in reverse! My wife can't see a foot in front of her face without glasses. She has a small fortune invested in glasses and they are all in her drawer.

But do you think she will wear them? Not on your life! When we go to a party I have to lead her around like a seeing eye dog so I can tell her who's coming and what is going on. Half the time she doesn't know what's being said because she can't see their faces. Tell that man who refuses to be seen with his wife because she wears glasses that he's got holes in his head.

MARVIN
DEAR ABBY: I have a problem you have never heard of before. My husband, who is 36, steals money from our children. Money they have earned and money sent to them for birthdays and holidays. He knows the children are never forgotten on such occasions and because there are six of them, their relatives make a practice of sending them money instead of gifts.

My oldest son worked all summer (where my husband works steady) and the boss gave my husband the money to give to my son. My son never saw the money and was ashamed to tell the boss he never got it.

Is there some way I can make my husband return what he has stolen from the children without calling the police? I hate to make a jailbird out of the children's father. NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO: Perhaps you could induce him to return the money he has stolen from the children by threatening to call the police. Your husband is a heartless and unprincipled scoundrel and doesn't deserve the protection you are giving him. Don't waste your time appealing to his sense of decency. He apparently has none. All he can understand is the fear of punishment from the law.

SUBURBIA

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

A belated welcome this morning to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fraker and their son, Robert, who moved to Lincoln early in December from Houston, Tex. As you may remember, Mr. Fraker is the new executive vice president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

The Frakers have as their new address 2346 St. Thomas Dr.

Also newcomers in the suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ballew who are former Scottsbluff residents. The Ballew couple have a son, John, who attends Southeast High School.

The family moved into their home at 2650 Woods Blvd. Christmas week. Mr. Ballew is associated with the new Hallam plant.

Ring out the old year and welcoming the new on Thursday evening was a gala affair at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Richard Westermann. The Westermann couple entertained 18 guests at an informal evening party.

Still have numerous holiday travelers to bring home, and among them are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dohrman and their daughters, Debra and Charlene. The Dohrmans returned home on Sunday, Dec. 27, from North Dakota where they visited both Mr. and Mrs. Dohrman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dohrman and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brooks and their family got home Wednesday, Dec. 30, from North Platte and a visit with Mrs. Brooks' mother, Mrs. John Schrader. Mrs. Schrader, who accompanied the Brooks family back to Lincoln, plans to return home this Sunday.

Announcement is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grasmick of the betrothal of their daughter, Clare Marie, to Michael R. McArdle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. McArdle of Washington, D.C.

A former student at the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Alpha Phi, the bride-elect is a senior at the University of Nebraska School of Nursing in Omaha.

Mr. McArdle is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he is continuing his studies on a graduate fellowship in southeast Asian geography.

Meetings

The January meeting of the Lincoln Chapter, INTER-CAREER WOMEN, will be national Association, of held Wednesday evening following a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the Capital Hotel.

Miss Phyllis Samuelson is in charge of the program which will feature a talk by Robert A. Lowe, adjutant quartermaster for the Veteran of Foreign Wars, department of Nebraska.

Miss Ione Rischling will preside at the meeting.

At the 2 o'clock meeting Saturday afternoon of the Lancaster County REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB, a talk will be given by Mrs. Bernal Camp. The meeting will be held in the board rooms of the National Bank of Commerce.

Head Aksarben Club

At the regular luncheon and program of the Aksarben Toastmistress Club Tuesday afternoon at the Hotel Cornhusker, the members elected new officers.

Standing is Mrs. William T. Schwob, new president, and seated are (from the left) Mrs. Clifford K. Roberts, first vice president; Mrs. Thomas Segasser, treasurer; and Mrs. Franklin D. Pearce, corresponding secretary. Not pictured is Mrs. Clifford Bilek, new recording secretary.

Opening lead—queen of diamonds.

If you toss a coin in the air, it is even money it will come down heads. If you toss two coins, however, it is 3 to 1 that they will not both come down heads. (With three coins the odds become 7 to 1.)

Although it is not essential for a good bridge player to know the theory of probabilities exactly, it is nevertheless helpful in many hands to be familiar with the general principles of chance. Bridge is a game of probabilities, and the player who steadily hews to the percentages will come out best in the long run.

Examine this hand. South won the diamond lead and led a spade to the jack, losing to the ace. East returned a diamond and declarer took the king. After drawing another round of trump, South led a heart to the queen, the finesse losing to the king. He then lost a diamond and a club to go down one.

Declarer misplayed the hand. In effect, he had given himself only a 50% chance to make the contract, since it was even money whether East or West had been dealt the king of hearts. He staked the result of the hand on the success of the heart finesse.

But he would have had a 3 to 1 chance in his favor if he had taken the queen of hearts finesse at trick two, instead of later. If it won, ten tricks could be accounted for.

Suppose, however (as in the actual case), it lost. South could then win the diamond return and play another heart to dummy, finessing the ten. Since West (in the actual hand) held the jack, the finesse would have succeeded and South could have disposed of his diamond loser on the ace of hearts. He would thus have made the contract.

By this method of play, declarer gets two chances to make the hand instead of one. He combines two even-money shots which, as in the case of the coins, make him a 3 to 1 favorite.

Law Moves To Throttle Anti-Jewish Outbreak As Puzzling Rash Spreads

Bonn, Germany (AP) — West German officials began moving Tuesday against the outbreak of anti-Semitism, sentencing two rightists to jail and clamping down on two extremist youth groups.

Both Bonn and its allies expressed alarm that West Germany's international standing may be seriously damaged by the plague of anonymous anti-Semitic actions spreading unexplained and unchecked.

The rash of swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans has spread in the past 10 days from West Germany across western Europe and to nations overseas.

In Israel, Justice Minister Pinhas Rosen told parliament that the government is issuing a warning on the dangers of anti-Semitic outbreaks "before they develop from isolated acts of hooliganism into disasters for entire peoples and humanity."

West German courts handed down the first conviction on anti-Semitic acts. Rolf Wolny, a 23-year-old unemployed clerk, was sentenced to 10 months in jail for painting anti-Jewish slogans on two doors and a shop window in West Berlin.

Blame Rowdies

Most officials in countries reporting incidents blamed the swastika painting on rowdies. In the United States, for example, a swastika was painted on a synagogue in Marshalltown, Iowa.

Said Police Chief Delos Dooley: "It's undoubtedly the work of stupid, moronic teenagers. Someone thought it was funny but it's no joke."

Police in western Europe and the United States launched efforts to find out who is responsible for the painting of swastikas, the defiling of synagogues and the threatening of Jews.

Yet there was no answer to the question of whether this was the work of crackpots or of an international conspiracy to revive anti-Semitism of the Hitler era.

'MOVE BEFORE DISASTER,' ISRAELI MINISTER WARNS

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP) — Justice Minister Pinhas Rosen said the world must act before isolated outbreaks of anti-Semitism become "disasters for entire peoples and humanity."

He said the Israeli government plans to issue a formal manifesto to that effect.

Rosen told the Israeli parliament: "History shows that these loathsome phenomena must be treated with all due seriousness and a deadly wiped out by all possible means."

He insisted that a simple disclaimer of responsibility by officials is not enough to stop anti-Semitism but action must be taken.

Rosen spoke in response to an opposition party request for a fullness debate on the current anti-Semitic campaign. Parliament rejected the request after Rosen made his statement.

Rosen said that although there is yet no definite proof, "There are some grounds for suspicion that an international organization, whose center is in Germany or elsewhere and which in any case uses the

Rush Here For Federal Income Tax Returns 'About Usual'

The 1960 rush for federal income tax returns is on, but the Lincoln Office of Internal Revenue Service reports the number of inquiries is running about the same as last year.

A spokesman said business generally builds up to a peak in about mid-February, then slacks off until the last-minute rush at the April 15 deadline.

Inquiries are handled Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. by either the information desk on the second floor of the Post Office Building or by the telephone service desk.

Self-Help School

Every Monday until the April 15 deadline, the Lincoln Office operates a "Self-Help School" from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

IRS agents hold classes to instruct persons how to make out their federal return.

In line with the Service's "do-it-yourself" policy, agents may answer questions and advise, but may not make out the return.

The educational program that has been conducted by the IRS is paying off. It is estimated that inquiries represent only about 8% of the total income tax returns filed.

OK Is Given For Defense Center Bids

City-Council Civil Defense Director Richard Vestecka received authorization Tuesday from the County Board to advertise for bids on an estimated $2,200 in preliminary work on an underground civil defense control center at 18th and Van Dorn.

Bids will be taken on work which will include construction of a 10 by 10 foot door in the abandoned water reservoir which will be converted into a site for the center and for grading and paving approaches to its entrance. Another $800 in work will be handled by the County Engineer's office.

The 129 by 179 foot reservoir is located in Van Dorn Park.

Vestecka said he hopes to have the reservoir fully renovated into a control center within 3 years. He said he has only enough money in his 1959-60 budget for the preliminary work.

John F. Spieker Is Named Night Jailer

John F. Spieker, 25, of 2991 Holdrege, has been hired by Sheriff Merle Karnopp as a night jailer.

Spieker's appointment was approved Tuesday by the County Board and his starting salary was set at $300 a month. Spieker replaces Andrew Maser, jailer for 4 years who resigned because of ill health.

Newspapers Named

The Lincoln Star, the Benet Sun and the Lincoln Journal were approved by the County Board Tuesday as official county newspapers for publication of legal notices for 1960.

Former U.S. Senator Norris Brown, 96, Dies

... Nebraska Introduced First Income Tax

Seattle (AP)—Former U.S. Senator Norris Brown (R-Nebr.), last surviving member of the 60th Congress and father of the U.S. income tax, died Tuesday at the age of 96.

The former Nebraska Republican introduced the resolution which sent the 16th Amendment, legalizing the income tax, to the states for ratification. It became law in Feb., 1913, one month before he left office.

Memorial services for the former senator are pending at Omaha's First Central Congregational Church.

A native of Iowa, Sen. Brown represented Nebraska in the Senate from 1907 to 1913, when he was succeeded by the late Sen. George W. Norris.

In 1888, he moved to Kearney from Iowa, and continued to practice law. He served as Buffalo county attorney from 1892 until 1896. Later he was deputy attorney general for 4 years, and elected attorney general in 1904.

Won Suit For State

As attorney general, he gained fame by winning a tax suit of more than a million dollars against the railroads. The money was used to open schools.

When Sen. Brown was instrumental in legalizing the federal income tax, it did not affect too many Americans. The entire national budget that year was only $724 million, and the tax rate was one per cent on incomes in excess of $3,000 for single persons and $4,000 for married persons.

Interviewed 5 years ago, Sen. Brown commented that he "never regretted my action with regard to the federal income tax. And the present tax is not excessive when you consider the commitments and needs of the country."

Omaha Practice

Following his defeat for a second Senate term, he returned to law practice, this time in Omaha. He was senior partner in the firm of Brown, Crossman, West, Barton and Quinlan.

He served as attorney for the Omaha stockyards for 30 years before moving to Seattle in 1943.

Sen. Brown was the last surviving member of the University of Iowa's Class of 1883. He was preceded in death by two wives, the former Lulu K. Beeler, whom he married in 1885 and who died in 1925, and his former long-time secretary, Ann Howland, whom he married in 1927 and who died a few years later.

Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. R. H. Bailey and Mrs. Frank A. Jones, both of Seattle, two grandchildren, and 3 great grandchildren.

Cremation will be at Seattle.

Fewer Marriage Licenses Sold

Fewer marriage licenses were issued in Lancaster County during 1959 than in any year since 1953, County Judge Herbert A. Ronin's office reported Tuesday.

The 1959 total of 1,050 licenses compared with 1,093 in 1958 and was the fewest since only 1,039 licenses were issued in 1953.

Totals for the last 8 years:

1959, 1,050	1953, 1,039
1958, 1,093	1952, 1,088
1957, 1,102	1951, 1,059

Hossack Picks Acting Division Heads

Two acting division heads were named Tuesday by acting state engineer John Hossack.

Don C. Coffey, who was assistant design engineer the past half year, was named acting design engineer.

Bruce Gillan, who was an engineer for 7½ years in the program and planning section, was named program and planning engineer.

Coffey, with the department since 1927, replaces G. C. Strobel who was promoted last week to acting deputy state engineer replacing Henry Schlitt who was fired by Governor Brooks.

Gillan replaces Hossack who was elevated to acting state engineer after state engineer Roy Cochran quit when the governor fired his deputy.

6 Nebraskans Lose Licenses Under 'Implied Consent' Law

Six Nebraskans lost their driver's licenses during December under the "implied consent" law, Alvin N. Scissors, director of the motor vehicles department, reported Tuesday.

Under the law, adopted by the 1959 Legislature, any person driving on public roads is considered to have given his consent to a test of bodily fluids if suspected of drunken driving.

If he refuses, he is ordered to show cause before the director of motor vehicles. If he does not show sufficient cause, his license is revoked for one year.

Only one whole license was revoked, Marshall A. Potter of Lincoln, appeared at a hearing before Scissors. The five others, who did not appear at hearings, were:

Wesley Fogle of Omaha, Verl E. Arnold of Ord, Noble Dee Chapman of Omaha, George Francis Pegg of Omaha, and Robert Ray Pope of Omaha.

Priess Estate Taxes $373.09

An inheritance tax of $373.09 was levied by Lancaster County Judge Herbert A. Ronin against the $92,760.37 estate of the late Mrs. Mary Priess of Rt. 6.

Mrs. Priess died last July 2 at the age of 77.

The estate included farm land valued at $54,950. The bulk of the estate was left to 3 of Mrs. Priess' sisters, Martha Busboom and Alma Zuege, both of Lincoln, and Ida Wize of Amherst, Colo.

Hearing Set On Brand Inspection Area Problem

A legislative council hearing scheduled for Friday at Elgin has been postponed but one set for Thursday at Bloomfield will be held, legislative council director Dr. Jack Rodgers said Tuesday.

The council committee studying the explosive brand inspection area problem will hold a hearing at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in the Bloomfield community building.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton is chairman of the committee.

The hearing will give ranchers and farmers an opportunity to air their views on brand area borders and enforcement of brand inspection laws.

Chiefly concerned with the hearing will be residents of Holt, Knox and Antelope Counties.

The committee also was scheduled to meet Friday in Elgin but postponed the meeting. No new date has been set.

$4,000 WILSON GRANT TO NU GRADUATE COLLEGE

The University of Nebraska Graduate College has received a $4,000 grant from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation to assist advanced students.

The funds are given in the form of a subsidy of $2,000 for each Wilson Fellow currently enrolled in the Graduate College. Three-quarters of each $2,000 grant is to be used for assisting beyond their first year any students genuinely interested in a teaching career, whether or not they earlier received Wilson Fellowships. The remaining quarter is to be used at the discretion of the University to strengthen its graduate programs.

The two Wilson Fellows at the University of Nebraska are Howard Carter, who took his undergraduate work at Bethune-Cookman College, Fla.; and Kevin D. Reilly, who received his bachelor's degree from Creighton University in Omaha. Carter is majoring in English and Reilly in physics.

The Wilson Foundation was incorporated in 1957 to administer a $24,500,000 grant from the Ford Foundation, designed to intensify the recruitment of college teachers.

The Lincoln chapter of National Office Management Association presented Tuesday evening a $500 check to the University of Nebraska to increase the chapter's student trust fund.

Accepting the gift was Dr. Richard Bourne as representative of the College of Business Administration. The presentation was made by Leonard Nelson, secretary-treasurer of Central Electric and Gas Company and chapter president.

The fund was established two years ago by the chapter through the University Foundation. Interest from the fund, which now consists of $1,500, is used to assist business administration students who are in financial need.

$500 TO NU TRUST FUND

The State Railway Commission Tuesday set for hearing on March 4 an application by Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha for authority to issue 200,000 shares of common stock at $10 a share.

Karnopp Article Featured In FBI Monthly Bulletin

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp authored the feature article in this month's FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, a publication which is circulated nationally to law enforcement agencies.

Karnopp's 2,500-word article concerns precautionary measures his office uses in transportation and handling of prisoners.

Karnopp details in the article the problems which were involved in transporting mass killer Charles Starkweather to and from the State Penitentiary during Starkweather's trial. He noted Starkweather's hands were handcuffed to a restraining belt and that other precautions included stationing a deputy on the roof of the county jail.

Jurors Get Look At Murder Scene; Miss Tregoff Weeps, Finch Is Affable

West Covina, Calif. (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff — smiling and affable, she in tears — returned Tuesday to the luxurious estate where his wife met violent death.

They are on trial, charged with her murder.

The handsome physician and his pretty former receptionist came to the Finch home in this Los Angeles suburb with jurors who will decide their fate.

Defendants, jurors, the judge and attorneys toured the estate so the jury would be familiar with its layout during the trial, expected to last 6 weeks.

Dr. Finch, 41, and Miss

Tregoff, 23, are accused of slaying his socialite wife, Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch, 36, the night of last July 18.

Simple Solution

The prosecutor in his opening statement Monday contended that they coolly plotted the murder so:

1. they could legalize their long-time romance via marriage, and
2. prevent Mrs. Finch from obtaining a big share of the prominent surgeon's wealth via a divorce settlement.

Superior Judge Walter R. Evans was the tour's guide over what, from a distance, looked like a movie or TV set, there were so many photographers with lights and gear.

Education Board Favors 'Reasonable State Aid'

By Betty Person

A policy favoring "reasonable state aid to education" was adopted by the State Board of Education Tuesday in its first written outline of the general philosophy and beliefs of the Board.

The Board also approved a revised set of rules and regulations governing the approval of high schools for receiving free high school tuition, and adopted requirements for accreditation of public and non-public high schools.

In its policy statements, which included the Board's stand on 17 different items, the one dealing with state aid evoked the most comment from members.

Wording Changed

As originally proposed, the statement on state aid included these remarks: "It is the Board's considered opinion that limiting the public school income to property taxes is both unduly burdensome to the property owners and inadequate for the needs of modern schooling in Nebraska."

Board Member Frank Heinisch of Omaha wanted to know "if there is any reason why we shouldn't say we favor a sales and income tax."

Board Chairman Frank Landis of Lincoln answered he did not think it was a "function of the State Board to consider taxation" and that this matter should be left to the Legislature.

Hamilton Mitten of Fremont said he thought the "major responsibility" of financing schools should come from local sources.

In its final version, the Board's statement read: "It is the Board's considered opinion that local sources of income and state aid should be adequate for the needs of modern schooling in Nebraska."

In another policy statement, the Board said it was "unalterably opposed to any form of federal control of education."

This statement continues, "We believe that all national funds appropriated for the use of the several states should lose their identity as to their capacity for forming education policies at the time of their appropriation and should become subject to the management and expenditure by state and local boards of education."

Other major points included:

"We believe irreversibly in the local management of school districts and shall encourage local boards to assume and exercise control of education within their communities in accordance with state laws."

"Every child in Nebraska is entitled to equal educational opportunities, regardless of his race, color, creed, or place of residence."

"Each school district should be able to provide a complete school program from the kindergarten through the 12th grade including special education for those who are in need of it."

"Local boards of education should assume a responsibility to develop and operate programs of adult education for the improvement of the citizenry in their community."

"Belief in the principle and value of vocational rehabilitation and shall encourage local boards to assume and exercise control of education within their communities in accordance with state laws."

CONGRESS WILL WIELD BIG STICK AGAINST BROADCASTERS—HARRIS

Washington (AP) Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) expressed doubt that Justice Department proposals to cope with payola and fraudulent radio-TV programs are adequate "to really clean things up."

Harris, chairman of the House subcommittee which investigated quiz show scandals, indicated he thinks Congress will go considerably further in tightening regulation than was recommended by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Rogers, in a report to President Eisenhower, said federal regulatory agencies have failed to make full use of their authority to combat irregularities in the broadcasting field.

He specifically recommended that Congress act to:

1. Make it a federal crime for a broadcast industry employee to be involved in payola — the practice of underpayment ments to promote products or persons. This would be an extension of present law which makes it a crime for a station to broadcast sponsored material without so announcing it.

2. Give the Federal Communications Commission greater flexibility in penalty sanctions against offending broadcasters.

Harris, in an interview, said he had no immediate quarrel with Rogers' second point.

But referring to the payola proposal, Harris said: "It seems to me this just doesn't satisfy the requirements. If we're going to get rid of deception and corruption at all, the statutes should be broadened to cover everyone involved."

He said he meant by this the extension of criminal penalties to anyone involved in payola — "whether it be sponsors, advertising agencies, producers or anyone."

Harris agreed with Rogers' contention that the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Trade Commission have failed to use fully their present power to curb irregularities.

But he challenged Rogers' argument that it seems premature to recommend any major changes in the law until the agencies and the industry show what can be done under existing powers.

Harris predicted his legislative oversight subcommittee "will recommend to Congress some very affirmative proposals."

He declined to give any details but indicated the recommendations will be submitted within a few days.

The subcommittee plans extensive public hearings on payola involving disc jockeys and others in the broadcasting industry. These hearings are expected to start later this month.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Ocean-going tankers can load petroleum products at the rate of 40,000 barrels an hour.

Thirty-one states now have boat numbering laws in line with the Federal Boating Act of 1958. After April 1, 1960, the U.S. Coast Guard will number every boat of more than 10-horsepower operating on navigable waters of the United States.

The Berlin airlift in 1948-49 carried 2,325,000 tons of supplies to two million people cut off by the Soviet blockade.

Congress Will Get AFL Bout ...Says Foss

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — American Football League commissioner Joe Foss said Tuesday night he would take to Congress the AFL's troubles with the established National Football League.

He said the NFL is harassing the fledgling AFL at every turn and added he thinks the Senate's anti-monopoly committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) ought to know of the stumbling blocks encountered by the AFL.

"Before too many days pass," Foss told reporters, "I'm going to Washington to visit members of that committee."

The AFL's abandonment of Minneapolis-St. Paul apparently brought on Foss' proposed trip to Washington.

He said the NFL, by repeated promises of a franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul "so confused the situation that AFL interests were not able to get any sort of written agreement for use of the stadium there."

The former South Dakota governor added that the NFL, until organization of the AFL, repeatedly refused to put a team there.

Foss said he did not believe Minneapolis-St. Paul could support two teams.

The NFL also has promised a franchise in Dallas, Foss said, although the NFL will not vote expansion until its Jan. 20 meeting in Miami Beach. The commissioner said a planned AFL meeting for Jan. 18 or 19 has been postponed until after the NFL meeting.

Foss said all 3 major television and radio networks have asked to talk about the AFL schedule. He said such talks would "have to wait until we get our membership settled."

Foss earlier said he believed contracts signed by two Louisiana State stars with AFL clubs were "prior and valid."

Schwartzwalder Hired; Will Instruct Coaches

Reno (AP) — Ben Schwartzwalder, coach of Syracuse's national champions, was hired by the University of Nevada Monday to explain his success.

He will teach a coaching clinic here June 20-24. Usually about 200 coaches from over the nation take the 14-hour football course.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

Lincoln Doesn't Lose

Lincoln schools certainly can have no objection to a 4-day state basketball tournament on the grounds of over-emphasis or detractor from the books.

Lincoln schedule makers have done such a nifty job of lining up opponents that nary a minute of classroom time would have to be lost. That is, unless they decided to make one or two trips more leisurely.

A quick check of the schedules shows 58 games remaining for Lincoln, Southeast, Northeast, Pius X and Uni—34 of them at home and 24 on the road.

And everyone of the games is on either Friday or Saturday night.

All of the Friday road trips could be made after school, with the possible exception of Northeast's junket to Norfolk. The Rockets, however, would need to miss only an hour or so of Friday classes even for that trip.

Short Jaunts

Here are the road trips for the 5 locals: Lincoln—Boys Town, Omaha Tech, Hastings (Friday); Grand Island and Omaha South (Saturday).

Northeast—Plattsmouth, Fairbury, Norfolk (Friday); Fremont, Omaha Westside (Saturday).

Southeast—Grand Island, Hastings, Plattsmouth (Friday); Fairbury, Boys Town (Saturday).

Pius X — Bishop Ryan, Omaha Cathedral (Friday); Sioux City Heelan, Falls City (Saturday).

University—Seward, Hebron, Plattsmouth (Friday); Ralston, Nebraska City (Saturday).

It's easy to see by this lineup that Lincoln school dads can't blame basketball for cutting into the book-learning time.

The Lincoln schools' 1959-60 schedules point up one of the big changes in high school basketball.

New Trend

Many of the games now are played on Saturday night. It used to be that the preps were open for business on Friday (or other week nights) and left Saturday to the colleges. Under that setup, the high school teams got their publicity—and fans—without competing against the biggies.

But in an effort to de-emphasize sports—perhaps, it should be termed yielding to the pressure of administrators—the schools (all over, not just in Lincoln) have started to pile up games on Saturday.

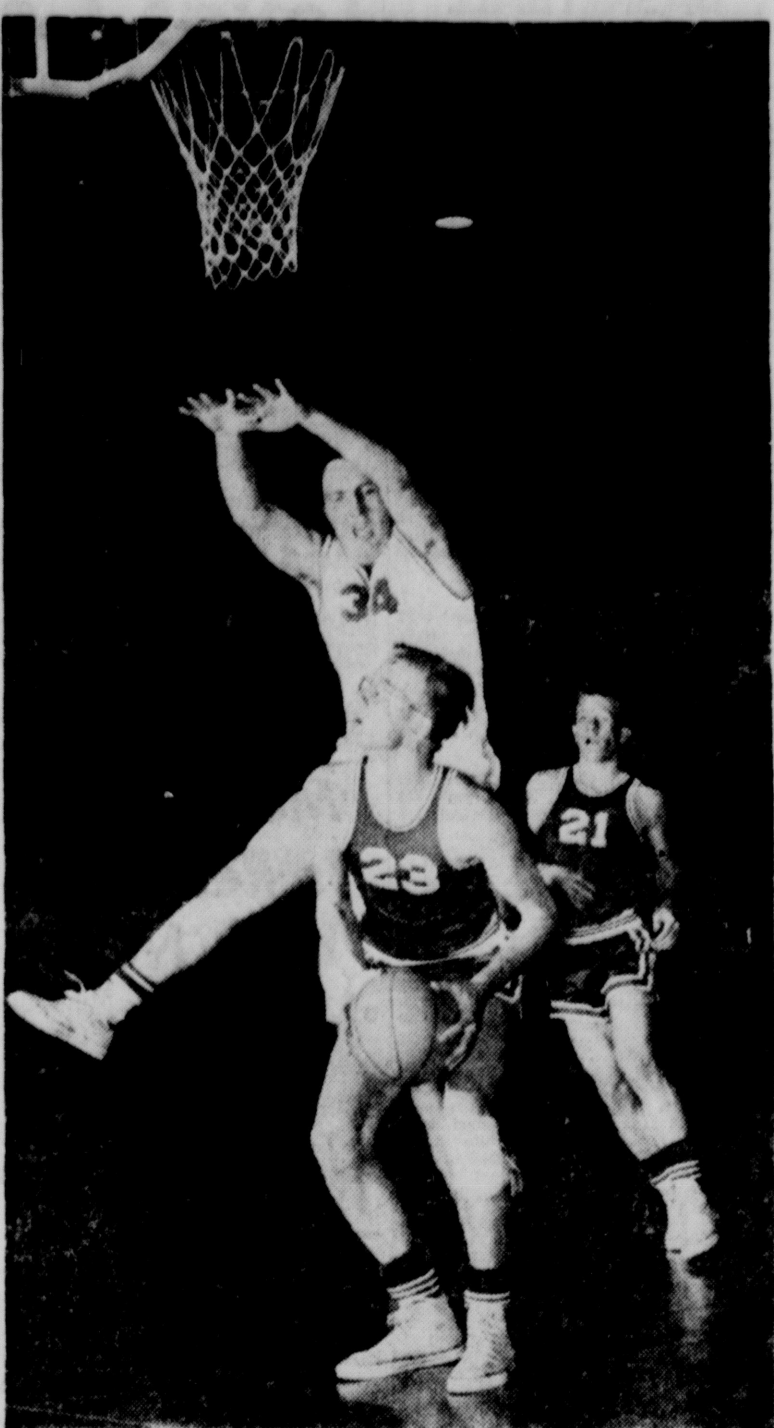

As a result, high school sports will continue to get less and less publicity and draw fewer and fewer fans.

Tough Competition

Numerous times during the remainder of the cage season the local high schools will be vying against the Nebraska Cornhuskers and/or Nebraska Wesleyan for customers.

On these Saturdays and others they will also be tangling with the national sports scene for ink.

Prep brass hats who frequently complain that their teams don't get a fair share of the ballyhoo would do well to take another look at their schedules.

St. Mary's marked itself as the team to beat, overwhelming Lourdes Central of Nebraska City 78-30. St. Cecilia's was scared by Falls City Sacred Heart before winning 45-41.

David City's powerful Knights, led by bulky Gene Coleman and the Kirby brothers,

John and Denny, hopped to a 25-9 first period lead and cantered to an easy victory.

The 6-7 Coleman controlled the boards and poured in 14 points, mostly on free throws. The Nebraska City outfit had 26 fouls and only 30 points.

John Hits 16

John Kirby, 6-3, led scoring with 16, followed by tiny Dan Reisdorff with 11, and Denny Kirby with 10. Ron Volkmer and Ron Schultz paced Lourdes with 10 apiece.

Defending champion Hastings St. Cecilia found itself in hot water a couple of times before salvaging a 45-41 win over Falls City Sacred Heart.

Sacred Heart had the big Blue Hawks down 8-6, after one quarter.

GRID GRANT GIVEN LEVY

Southeast High School rejoiced Tuesday in the awarding of a full football scholarship to Knight athlete Jim Levy.

Young Levy, 17, is the first gridder from Southeast given a full grant from the University of Nebraska.

An all-city choice, Jim led his team in rushing and scoring from a left halfback post.

His coach, veteran Tom Gilsapie, said he was "very elated over the fact that he's been given this honor and that he has accepted."

PAUL AMEN RESIGNS WAKE FOREST POST

—Sen. Keating To Help—

Continental Enlists Congressional Aid

Washington (AP) — Organizers of the Continental League Tuesday picked up congressional support to wield as a weapon in their drive to become established as a 3rd major baseball league.

Branch Rickey, president of the Continental, and William Shea, its founder, obtained a welcome endorsement from Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) and assurances that key congressional groups expect baseball authorities to cooperate with them.

Keating volunteered to act as mediator in any disputes that arise between the Continental and the existing majors over the availability of players and rights to operate in designated territories.

A 3rd major league, Keating said, "is the answer to expansion of this great sport."

Keating's position bolstered the case Rickey and Shea will present to baseball commissioner Ford Frick and officials of the American and National Leagues.

The senator has been a leading advocate of guaranteeing baseball freedom to function as in the past under federal laws affecting big business.

Club owners have sought these guarantees—but Rickey and Shea declared they have run across "terrific opposition" in forming a new league of 8 cities.

They have now placed 7 franchises and intend to award the 8th within two weeks. Either Buffalo or Montreal will get it.

When the league is rounded out, Rickey plans to negotiate with Frick on the fundamentals of achieving recognition and cooperation.

In that respect, he said, the Continental has suffered from delays in convincing potential investors that the new league offers the best opportunity of gaining major league status.

Some have held out, Rickey said, with the hope of joining one of the present leagues. He said the Continental had faced effective opposition in reports that the American League would expand.

As a result of their quick trip from New York to Washington, Rickey and Shea may take Congress along as a silent partner to their talks with major league officials.

AMEN ... deserts coaching ranks.

Ex-Husker Joins Banking Concern

Winston-Salem, N.C. (AP) — Paul Amen resigned Tuesday as head football coach at Wake Forest College to take a job with a local banking concern.

Billy Hildebrand, No. 1 assistant to Amen and line coach, was recommended to succeed the 1959 Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year award winner.

The Wake Forest athletic council, at a hastily called meeting, endorsed Hildebrand and notified Wake Forest President Harold W. Tribble of its action.

The next step will come Friday when the trustees meet for final action on the matter.

The announcement of Amen's surprising decision to retire after 4 years here was made at a news conference.

He notified school officials Monday of his plan to join the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., one of the south's largest banks.

Amen, a Lincoln, Neb., native entered coaching 20 years ago, two years after graduation from the University of Nebraska, where he lettered in 4 sports.

He was a Nebraska assistant until 1942 when he entered service. The following year he received his commission in the Air Force and was assigned to the Military Academy at West Point.

During 12 years there he served as head baseball coach, plebe football and assistant varsity coach in addition to duties as an English instructor.

In 4 years at Wake Forest Amen twice won ACC Coach of the Year honors while winning 11 games against 3 ties and 26 losses.

In his first year here, 1956, he was named Coach of the Year when his team won two games, tied 3 and lost 5.

The next season the Deacons dropped 10 in a row. They had a 3-7 record in 1958 and last year won 6 of 10, the school's best record in 8 years.

Amen was given a 5-year contract 3 years ago after his first season.

Hildebrand, who is a 35-year-old native of Memphis, Tenn., was end and captain on the 1945 Mississippi State team.

After serving on the staffs at Mississippi State and Purdue he took a Tennessee post in 1950, but polio sidelined him that season.

Amen leaves a squad headed by quarterback Norman Sneed, whose record passing feats as a junior last season featured the team's development as a conference championship threat.

Plainsmen Trip Peru

...Late Gifters Seal 66-61 Win

Lincoln Star Special

Peru—Sub Jim Munford and Duane Eichorn delivered pressure-packed gifters in the final minute as Nebraska Wesleyan upset Peru Teachers 66-61 here Tuesday night.

The tight contest was an early showdown in the Nebraska College Conference and left Wesleyan with a 4-0 command.

Peru, which blew a 10-point command in the first half dropped to 2-1 in the conference and 8-3 on the season.

Wesleyan's balanced trio of Rudy Stoehr, Munford and Eichorn outdistanced a one-man show by the Bobcats' Bob Mayo.

Mayo led all scoring with 24 points, and his tip with 50 seconds left nearly lifted Peru back into the contest.

It left the Bobcats trailing by 62-61, but first Munford and then Eichorn dunked a pair of charity efforts to open up a 5-point gap.

Coach Irv Peterson's hustling Plainsmen came off a 30-27 halftime deficit and used an 18-for-20 performance at the line for the victory.

Peru owned a 27-24 bulge from the floor but lost the lead for good when Eichorn netted a push shot with 4 minutes to go.

That gave Wesleyan a 57-55 lead, and the Bobcats' best bids in the closing minutes were at 56-57 and 61-62.

Munford, the jack-in-the-box forward, led Wesleyan with 20 points, his season's high. Eichorn meshed 16 and Stoehr 15.

College Football Coaches In Favor Of Return To Two-Platoon System

New York (AP) — College football coaches Tuesday strongly recommended the return of unlimited substitution and the platoon system, voted out of existence 7 years ago.

But there was no assurance that the national rules committee will accept this recommendation when it meets at Miami Beach next week.

The rules committee of the American Football Coaches Assn., a body with limited influence, came up with the suggestion to do away with all limitations on substitutions after polling 602 coaches.

More than 400 of those casting ballots favored free substitution as opposed to the present system or a liberalized "wild card" substitution rule.

The decision, however, will be made by the NCAA rules committee, which sets up the playing code for some 500 colleges. In the past the committee often has ignored or altered the recommendations of the coaches. Several members are known to have strong objections to the return of platoons.

Free substitution was ruled out in 1953 under a mandate from the NCAA council to eliminate platoon football while preserving the beneficial features of liberal substitution.

The strict limitations on substitutions imposed at that time have been liberalized every year since then.

The straw vote conducted by the AFCA rules committee, headed by former Columbia coach, Lou Little, showed 392 coaches favoring unlimited substitution as opposed to 131 who favored the resent rule, with a change in the system of recording substitutes.

Sixty-seven wanted to allow two "wild card" substitutions in place of one. The present rule permits the insertion of a single player anytime the clock is stopped.

The 22-man AFCA rules committee also decided that two other controversial rules changes adopted last year—the widened goal posts and the two-point conversion—had proved generally satisfactory and should be retained.

Eickholt Quits Nebraska U.

Bob Eickholt, former Omaha Holy Name football and basketball star, Tuesday informed University of Nebraska basketball coach Jerry Bush that he was withdrawing from school.

It was learned that Eickholt, a former Sunday Journal and Star all-star, was having scholastic difficulty and was failing in 3 courses at the last grade report.

In announcing Eickholt's decision to quit school, Bush said, "I am very sorry that Bob is not going to return."

While Eickholt did not reveal any future plans, a reliable source said he had been in contact with Creighton University of Omaha and may enroll there.

Smokers Help Golden Gloves

Admission-free smokers staged in November and December may reap rich dividends when the Southeast Nebraska Golden Gloves tournament comes off at Pershing Auditorium Jan. 15-16.

Tournament Manager Bob Logsdon of Lincoln American Legion Post No. 3 is enthused over prospects for the mid-winter show.

He thinks the tune-ups plus added incentive of Olympic berths for Chicago tournament champions can make next week's show tops in Lincoln history.

Advance tickets are on sale at the Legionnaire Club and at the auditorium.

"We'll have a minimum of 35 fighters," Logsdon promised this week while sizing up early prospects.

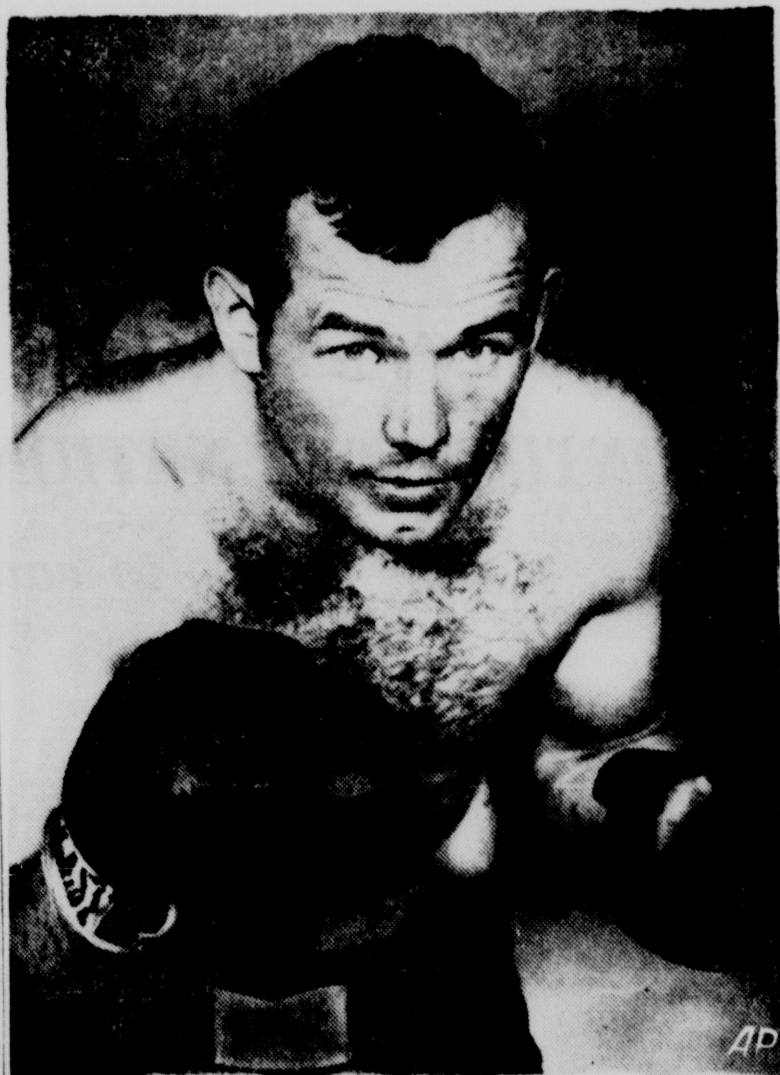

Contenders are expected from 3 Lincoln stables and from Lou Holloway's perennially tough outfit out of Fairbury.

The latter contingent includes popular Eldon Rossmiller, decided by Roger Lane for the middleweight crown a year ago.

Lincoln's show is the second elimination meet staged in advance of the Midwest Gloves tourney at Omaha Feb. 19-20.

Tournament officials are Henry Jacoby, referee; Bob Crosby, Henry Aguirre and Charles Van Fleet, judges; Dr. Paul Gotowski, ringside physician; Art Adams, timer, and Ted Connor, ring announcer.

Managers of the Lincoln stables are Larry Emery, George Morris (Pentzer Park) and Glenn Lybarger (Belmont Park).

Ingemar ... Believes In Staying Fit.

Athlete Of Year Johansson Busy Preparing For Rematch

Goteborg, Sweden (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, acclaimed 1959's male "Athlete of the Year," is a busy man with a single purpose—successful defense of his heavyweight championship.

Notified Tuesday that he is the 3rd foreigner in history to be voted the top sportsman by the Associated Press in America, the handsome Swede made clear that growing honors would not make him complacent.

He is keeping on the move, working out as rigidly as before he stunned the boxing world last June with a 3rd-round TKO over heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

"I am proud to be honored this way," the tall, good-looking Viking said when informed of his AP selection.

Ingemar spent the day as he has most others. He worked out for several hours in the Redbergsid Gymnasium, punching the bag, swinging on parallel bars and sitting in the steam bath.

Then he took a sauna — the Scandinavian-style bath which runs the gamut from steam rooms to freezing water.

"I have to sweat — I must keep sweating," the champion said.

Johansson said the food he eats is inclined to turn to fat, with the result that he must keep constant watch on his weight. At present, he is only about 4 pounds over his regular fighting weight — 196 — and he says "that is good."

Hula Bowl Squads In Hard Toil

Honolulu (UPI) — Coaches Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State settled down in earnest Tuesday to preparing their all-star teams for Sunday's annual Hula Bowl, last collegiate post-season game in the nation.

The two squads arrived in the islands and started things off immediately with a Hawaiian Luau feat. Then they spent time being shaped up into playing units which could produce another thriller to match the East-West game in San Francisco.

Dietzel's East squad had the edge in All-American talent with 6 first-string picks and two second-team men. Wilkinson has only 3 second team All-Americans and one from the 3rd team.

He isn't worried because one is Southern Methodist's Don Meredith, star of the Shrine game, and another is Iowa State's Dwight Nichols.

Dietzel had no trouble picking his starting backfield of All-Americans Richie Lucas of Penn State at quarterback, Billy Cannon of Louisiana State at left half, Ron Burton of Northwestern at right half and Charlie Flowers of Mississippi at fullback.

Wilkinson indicated he will work with alternating backfields of equal status. One unit has Meredith at quarterback, Dick Bass of College of Texas Christian at fullback.

The other unit features Oklahoma's Bobby Boyd at quarterback, Nichols and Willie West of Oregon at halfbacks and Ray Smith of UCLA at fullback.

No Comment As Lewis, Prexy Talk

Morgantown, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia President Elvis J. Stahr Jr. and Football Coach Art Lewis conferred for about an hour Tuesday in Stahr's office. Neither of the principals had any comment afterward.

"No comment," was the word put out for Stahr by his secretary after the meeting. Lewis and his aides left afterward for New York City to attend the NCAA coaches meeting.

News had previously leaked out that the WVU athletic council had unanimously recommended to Stahr that Lewis, Mountaineer head coach for the past 10 seasons, not be rehired.

Reports Say Kuharich Will Leave Notre Dame

Washington (AP) — New reports cropped out Tuesday that Joe Kuharich will leave Notre Dame to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams. One Washington source close to Kuharich said he was sure the move would be made.

Kuharich, former coach of the Washington Redskins, returned to his alma mater last season and directed the Irish to a 5-5 record.

The Rams of the National Football League are looking for a successor to Sid Gillman, dismissed as head coach last month.

The Washington source said the offer to Kuharich was not yet bona fide but added: "I am convinced in my own mind he will take the job."

Tips that Kuharich would return to pro football with the Rams have emerged in recent weeks from Los Angeles and Chicago. Kuharich has brushed them off, saying at one point the reports "warranted no statement."

Coaching at Notre Dame fulfilled a cherished ambition for Kuharich. As a boy in South Bend he sneaked out to the practice field to watch the Irish work out under Knute Rockne.

WILT SCORES 52 MARKERS

New York (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain dumped in 52 points, his second high of the year, to lead the Philadelphia Warriors to a 126-111 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers.

The defeat spoiled Jim Pollard's coaching debut with the Lakers.

Chamberlain's high for the year was a 55 point effort against Cincinnati. The 7-1 Philadelphia ace led a second quarter surge that put his team in front for good.

Oldis Breaks Jaw

Pittsburgh (AP) — Catcher Bob Oldis of the Pittsburgh Pirates suffered a jaw fracture while playing baseball in the Dominican Republic, it was reported by Gen. Mgr. Joe L. Brown of the Pirates. Brown said Oldis' jaw was operated on, and he will be out of action 45 days. The Pirates recently drafted Oldis from Denver.

All-Star Bowlers In Warmup Today

Omaha (AP) — A record field of 336 bowlers will prelude the National All-Star Bowling Tournament here today with a warmup session on 24 new lanes installed in Omaha's City Auditorium for the occasion.

Competition for the $60,000 in prize money will begin Thursday.

The defending champions are Billy Welu of St. Louis, who can get $10,000 this year if he repeats in his division, and Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., who will collect $5,000 with a repeat title.

Preliminaries for men start Thursday and run through Sunday. The top 96 will qualify for the semi-finals and the top 16 from that list will fight it out for the title.

Women's play follows the same general pattern. However, there will be only 3 days of qualifying for the ladies.

In the finals, extending over 3 days, each player will meet every other one in a 4-game match. At the end of 15 matches players will be paired according to position for their final matches.

Petersen points will be used to determine the winners. A year ago Welu took the title by winning the last game of his position match.

Mrs. Ladewig also brings into the tourney a reputation for clutch finishes. In 1958 she won with two strikes in the tenth frame of her final match and in 1951 she out-averaged the entire field of men and women with a 211-plus average.

Cincy Leads UPI Ratings Once Again

New York (UPI) — The Cincinnati Bearcats led United Press International's major college basketball ratings Tuesday for the 5th straight week while California replaced West Virginia in second place.

The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams gave Cincinnati 32 first place votes and 346 points. This was the second highest point score ever recorded in the 10-year history of the ratings.

The total topped only by the 348 received by the San Francisco Dons on Dec. 27, 1955.

The maximum possible score is 350 points. Each coach on the nationwide board selects 10 teams each week in the order he rates them nationally.

Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place. The coaches' latest ballots were based on games played through last Saturday night.

Tri-State Finishes First Job

Sioux City (AP) — A 3-man executive committee of the new Tri-State Athletic conference has completed work on a proposed constitution to be submitted to the 7-school loop at a meeting here March 16.

The committee consists of Dr. H. H. Klas of Westmar College, Lemars, Ia.; Dr. R. R. Poston of Dana College, Blair, Neb. and Carl Youngworth of Yankton College, Yankton, S.D.

Other charter members of the conference are Midland of Fremont, Northwestern of Orange City, Ia., Concordia Teachers of Seward and Sioux Falls (S.D.). All but Concordia were represented at the Monday meeting.

Dr. Kalas announced that Dale Pennybaker, Midland College athletic director, will be director of publicity for the conference assisted by Stan Sass, Midland College publicity director.

Named to the eligibility committee were Dr. A. M. Gowan, dean of Sioux Falls College; R. E. Sarburg, Concordia, and Ralph Mouw, Northwestern.

Coaches from the 6 colleges present discussed plans for the spring conference meeting to be held in conjunction with the track, tennis and golf meet at Westmar May 14.

LOCAL SKATING CALLED 'FAIR'

Ice skating was reported "just fair" at Oak Lake, Roberts, Sawyer Snell and Lake Street areas by the Park Department Tuesday.

College View's slab is not open for skating. It has been flooded but water is seeping off and it will have to be sprayed.

Skating slabs at Peter Pan, Cooper and Uni Place parks were being flooded Tuesday. These recreation department areas should be ready for skating shortly.

Rote Trys Argonauts In Bid For Contract

Toronto (AP) — Quarterback Tobin Rote, discouraged in talks with the Detroit Lions, carried his pursuit of a no-out, no-trade contract to Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Big 4 pro football league Tuesday.

Lew Hayman, managing director of the Argos, met with the National Football League veteran, but a decision was not reached.

Rote, 31, played out his option with Detroit last season and now is considered a free agent.

The Lions have turned down his request for a no release contract which would guarantee him $18,000 salary.

"I was just as happy the Lions didn't offer me a new contract," Rote said. "I didn't want to play there anyway."

"I want assurance that I can't be traded or released in mid-season just because a few things don't go right."

The Argos have shied away from no-release contracts since quarterback Tom Dublinski, also an ex-Lion, suffered a knee injury before the start of the 1956 season and was paid although unable to play.

MIAMI COACH, AIDE REHIRE

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Head coach Andy Gustafson and assistant Walter Kichowski of the University of Miami have been hired for 3 more years, president Jay F. W. Pearson announced Tuesday.

Pearson said the coaching contracts actually were letters of agreement and the 3 years specified were a reward for excellent work.

Tribe's Ace Bails For Higher Wages

Cleveland (AP) — Nineteen players of the Cleveland Indians' roster have signed contracts for the 1960 baseball season, but slugger Rocky Colavito is not among them.

General manager Frank Lane found Colavito's unsigned contract on his desk when he returned to Cleveland after spending two weeks in Florida, Puerto Rico and New York City.

Lane said he's offered Colavito, "a sizable raise" but that the Indians' outfielder claimed he is "worth a lot more."

Texas Coach Talks Down Race Affair

Austin, Tex. (AP) — University of Texas coach Darrell Royal said Tuesday night he "can't for the life of me see what they're talking about" when asked about charges of racial troubles in the Cotton Bowl.

Syracuse players claimed after last Friday's game, won 23-14 by the New York school, that racial remarks directed at the 3 Negroes on the Syracuse team contributed to the bitter feeling and a near-brawl just before halftime.

Works Both Ways
Royal also said there was evidence of prejudice on the part of some Syracuse players.

The Texas coach said Longhorn halfback Rene Ramirez, of Latin-American descent, "said he had some pretty uncomplimentary things said to him during the game."

"You have to be from the South, I guess, to be prejudiced," Royal said wryly.

"We made no issue of the fact they have colored boys," Royal said.

Played Others

"We have played teams with colored football players before," he said. Nebraska, California and Oklahoma, all opponents on the 1959 Texas schedule, had Negroes on the roster.

Asked about claims by Syracuse that Texas players lacked sportsmanship, Royal said, "I don't know what they had in mind. I've seen movies of the game and of course I was at the game, and I don't see that either team was dirty."

Royal said Texas players and coaches have said "very little about the game." All were agreed, he said, that "they (Syracuse) deserved to win."

Capital Leaders Attend 'Bipartisan' Affair For Sen. Dirksen

Washington (UPI)—President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and a host of other top political figures attended a glittering birthday party Tuesday night for Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

The beaming Illinois senator, celebrating his 64th birthday, escorted Eisenhower on a leisurely tour of the crowded hotel ballroom. The President, tanned and in high spirits, stayed about a half hour.

Eisenhower had a warm greeting for everyone he met, including Mrs. David J. McDonald, wife of the United Steelworkers president. She arrived at the party ahead of her husband.

Laugh Together

The President shared a joke with Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson (Tex.). Both laughed heartily.

Eisenhower seemed quite rested after his vacation at Augusta, Ga. After returning here Tuesday, Eisenhower dropped Mrs. Eisenhower off at the White House and went directly to the party.

Mrs. McDonald said she thanked the President for settlement of the steel dispute. But she did not tell him what she told Mrs. Nixon: "that the settlement was our loveliest anniversary present."

The McDonalds celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary Jan. 3, the day a settlement first appeared certain.

Top Demos Absent

No other presidential hopefuls were at the party, but the room was buzzing with potential vice presidential aspirants of both parties.

All senators were invited, as were cabinet members and other ranking officials.

McDonald, who arrived after Eisenhower left, was a mafor center of attention. Officials of several smaller steel companies also were on hand, and they clambered for photographs with Nixon, Johnson and other luminaries.

In one joking exchange, the jubilant McDonald told Nixon that he drew cheers the night before by proposing a "new ticket" — Nixon and McDonald.

Dirksen invited Johnson to meet Eisenhower at the entrance with him. Johnson, his arm crooked through Eisenhower's, drew laughs from the President by remarking that birthday parties should be bipartisan.

Johnson also was reported to have told Eisenhower an old Texas joke about the two winningest presidential tickets both having a native Texan aboard.

He referred to the 1936 ticket of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner and the 1952 and 1956 tickets of Eisenhower and Nixon. Those two slates piled up the most lopsided electoral victories in history. Eisenhower and Garner are native Texans.

Franch Pre-Trial Hearing Delayed

Butte — A pre-trial hearing in connection with charges against Nyal Franch was postponed until Thursday due to adverse road conditions in Boyd County.

A first degree murder charge is pending against 18-year-old Franch in the death of his half-brother, Franklin Vanderline, 21. Their mother, Mrs. Sadie Dickerson, was acquitted of a murder charge in December.

Morrison Questions GOP Change ...On Omaha Interstate

Lincoln attorney Frank Morrison, Democratic candidate for gubernatorial nomination, questioned Tuesday an apparent change in Republican pronouncements on Omaha's Interstate priorities.

"Are the Republicans coming around to the Morrison position of opposition to top priority for constructing Route 3 through downtown Omaha before the rest of the state has any highway?" Morrison asked following a statement of Charles Thone, state Republican chairman.

Morrison further questioned whether today's Republican leadership is willing to "repudiate the program of the Anderson administration which established the downtown route and employed engineers to locate and design it."

No Reply

He said that although he had queried Nebraska Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska some time ago on the situation, he had received no reply.

"Both of the Republican senators thereby refused to come out against the downtown boondoggle and all of the state of Nebraska must know the position of the Republican leaders on this matter," he said.

Morrison added that he concurs "one thousand per cent" in the recent suggestion of former State Engineer Roy Cochran that the state speed up its hard surfacing of gravel highways.

Cochran had proposed putting an inexpensive armor coating on some gravel highways instead of waiting until money is available to build them to higher standards.

Morrison stated that hard surfacing "is a saving, not an expense" and "will eliminate accidents now caused by loose gravel."

Petition Claims New Evidence In Murder Is Found

Gering (AP)—A petition maintaining new evidence has been found was filed Tuesday in District Court in Gering on behalf of Alex Reizenstein of Scottsbluff, now serving a life term in the Nebraska penitentiary for the Dec. 1, 1956 shotgun slaying of his wife, Lydia.

The petition asked that the evidence be investigated and that the county appoint an attorney for Reizenstein. A hearing on the motion for an attorney will be held Jan. 20.

A jury convicted Reizenstein of first degree murder in the case and recommended a life sentence. The nature of the new evidence was not revealed.
